Warned Of Sinking That Missed Fire

CAPTAIN E. A. CHELTON of the American liner Iroquois, who was informed by wireless from Washington, three days out of Ireland, that Grand Admiral Raeder of the German Navy had warned U.S. authorities the Iroquois was to be sunk as it neared America.

IROQUOIS HOME SAFELY AFTER NAZI "TIP-OFF"

American Liner Convoyed To New York Harbor By Destroyers

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—With colored lights gleaming cheerfully on her little after-deck, the American liner Iroquois—which the German admiralty had said would be sunk near the American coast—pulled safely into her dock last night, bringing 577 Americans from warring Europe.

She was convoyed to the entrance of New York harbor by two United States navy destroyers, attached to her as a "purely precautionary measure" by the White House after receipt of an assertion from Grand Admiral Raeder, of the German fleet, that she would be sunk under circumstances similar to destruction of the British liner Athenia.

TOO ABSURD TO DENY

This was an implication she would be sunk by the British or French, since the Germans disclaimed responsibility for the Athenia disaster. British admiralty sources said such an implication was "Too absurd to deny."

The Iroquois passengers had been told last Monday by the liner's master, Captain E. A. Chelton, that a threat against her had been

HITLER'S PEACE BIDS REJECTED BY BRITAIN

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 12—Prime Minister Chamberlain rejected Adolf Hitler's peace terms today while the crowded House of Commons cheered his words.

In blunt language the German government was told to choose between continued warfare and peace in which the allied forces would not lose their honor.

"The issue is plain," Mr. Chamberlain declared. "Either the German government must give convincing proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace by definite acts and by the provision of effective guarantees of their intention to fulfil their undertakings or we must persevere in our duty to the end. It is for Germany to make her choice."

Mr. Chamberlain summed up the attitude of the British government in these words:

"Herr Hitler rejected all suggestions for peace until he had overwhelmed Poland, as he had previously overthrown Czecho-Slovakia. Peace conditions cannot be acceptable which begin by condoning aggression."

The prime minister added the proposals in Hitler's Reichstag speech last Friday were vague and uncertain, and contained no suggestions "for righting the wrongs done to Czecho-Slovakia and Poland."

But, the prime minister added, it is not alone the freedom of the small nations that is at stake.

FREE NATIONS IN JEOPARDY

There is also in jeopardy, he went on, the peaceful existence of Great Britain, the Dominions, India, the rest of the British Empire, France and all freedom-loving countries.

"Even if Herr Hitler's proposals were more closely defined and contained suggestions to right these wrongs," he continued, "it would still be necessary to ask by what practical means the German government intend to convince the world that aggression will cease and that pledges will be kept. Past experience has shown that no reli-

HITLER DECIDES TO THROW FULL FORCE INTO WAR

BERLIN, Oct. 12—Adolf Hitler has decided to throw Germany's full force into the war against Great Britain and France, informed quarters said tonight after the Fuehrer conferred for more than three hours with his closest advisers on Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech.

The British prime minister's address to the House of Commons failed to come up to the expectations of what Hitler believed his broad peace offers demanded, these sources said.

Germany now believes, it was added, that further parleys are useless and that guns must speak.

FARM DEBTS CUT DOWN BY 11 MILLION

Boards Of Review Effect Reduction Of 41.32 Per Cent.

Farmers' debts in Alberta have been reduced from $27,613,105 to $16,202,490, or by 41.32 per cent, by proposals formulated by Boards of Review appointed under the provisions of the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act since its inception in 1934, it was disclosed in a statement issued Thursday morning by Chief Justice C. R. Mitchell, chairman of the senior review board.

During the period since the act has been put into operation 3,419 formulations have been made by the board which resulted in the reduction of farmers' debts by an average of $3,337.41. The average indebtedness of farmers applying for debt reduction is placed at $8,076.37.

Average annual interest saving to farmers through reductions in indebtedness and lowering of interest rates is placed at $299.11 for the first year following the formulation of a proposal.

In the Edmonton judicial district 679 farmers had their debts adjusted by the board of review. The total indebtedness of these farmers was $4,510,048 which was scaled down to $2,713,244, a reduction of 44.27 per cent. Annual interest saving on the scale down was estimated at $167,569.

MAYOR OFFERS CITY AIRPORT FOR TRAINING

Following a meeting with aviation officials at City Hall Wednesday afternoon, Mayor John W. Fry wrote to Hon. James A. MacKinnon, M. P. for West Edmonton, offering the city's airport and other facilities for the empire training school for air force recruits.

The mayor's letter stated that it was hoped this airport would be used and that any needed extensions or improvements could be made. A plant is available for aircraft manufacture or assembly, he said.

Present at the meeting were the mayor, Commissioners John Hodgson and R. J. Gibb, City Engineer A. W. Haddow, Airport Manager James A. Bell, W. R. May, G. W. G. McConachie, A. M. Berry, C. C. Becker, A. Farmilo of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, John Blue of the Chamber of Commerce, and John Michaels.

CONSCRIPTION NOT QUESTION, SAYS GODBOUT

Assurance Already Given By Mackenzie King, Leader States

By W. H. WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC, Oct. 12. — Quebec province can place complete confidence in the assurance by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that there will be no conscription under the present federal regime, Hon. Adelard Godbout told a provincial election meeting audience in a factory district last night.

"Mackenzie King," said Godbout, provincial Liberal leader, "was one of those who stood with Sir Wilfrid Laurier so firmly against conscription in the first Great War," and the prime minister had given his assurance that the present dominion government opposed conscription.

PREMIER SCREENS FACTS

Speaking in behalf of Oscar Drouin, former Liberal, Union Nationale, National and now Liberal again, Mr. Godbout said Premier Maurice Duplessis had raised the question of conscription in an effort to screen the fact he had "brought the province to the verge of bankruptcy and was unable to borrow further money."

Big German Steamship Cap Norte, Believed Raider, Captured By British In South Atlantic

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Royal navy was reported today to have captured the 13,615 ton German steamship Cap Norte. The report issued by the Press Association said the Cap Norte, a ship in trade between Germany and South America, had sailed from the Brazilian port of Pernambuco September 17.

The capture of the Cap Norte had been hinted in yesterday's remarks by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in the house of commons.

Mr. Churchill related that during the period from Sept. 24 to Oct. 9, Great Britain had a favorable balance of 7,806 tons of shipping in comparing her seizures with her losses from German submarine attacks.

He explained that Britain had lost

DOMINION GETS FACILITIES FOR PUBLIC HEALTH

Provinces Make Offer To Defence Department To Aid In War

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—Many facilities of public health services in the various provinces will be offered to the national defence department for duration of the war, it was decided Wednesday at the first day's session of the Dominion Council of Health.

Dr. R. E. Wodehouse, deputy minister of pensions and national health, and chairman of the council, named Dr. B. T. McGhie, Ontario's deputy health minister, Dr. M. R. Bow, Alberta deputy, and Dr. R. D. Defries, Toronto, scientific adviser to the council, as a committee to decide what services should be placed at the department's disposal.

It was announced all provinces except Quebec, which failed to send its chief health officers, are represented at the council.

Recommendation of the special committee will be submitted to the council, and, through the minister of pensions and national health, is expected to be passed on to the defence department.

Soldiers are less affected than civilians by nervous conditions in national emergencies such as war, Dr. C. H. Archibald, department of pensions and national health, said in discussing the psychiatric aspects of the war. He said the Great War and the Spanish war proved war causes little increase in mental diseases. No increase in provincial burdens from this cause was likely.

Plans for a neuro-psychiatric services in the forces are under way, said Dr. Archibald. A consulting psychiatrist of outstanding ability has been appointed by the defence department.

U.S. Senator Says British Navy Holds Safety Of Americans

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Senator Edward Burke, Nebraska Democrat, Wednesday delivered one of the most outspoken pleas yet made in the Senate in behalf of President Roosevelt's proposal for repeal of the arms embargo and suggested the United States do everything "short of supplying men and money" to aid the allies against Germany.

Burke, in the past a bitter critic of administration labor policies and foe of the president's court reorganization bill in 1937, told the senate:

"Our own national defence, our continued security, requires that Great Britain retain its position of leadership.

"If no other eason existed I

Fishing Skipper Finds

Bombs Drop On All Sides Of Him

Self In Middle Sea Fight

ALESUND, Norway, Oct. 12—A Norwegian fishing boat skipper asserted today he was trapped in the midst of a North Sea battle Monday afternoon between five British warships and about 150 German planes.

The captain of the fishing boat Kvaloy said bombs dropped on all sides and the crew, fearing their ship would be sent to the bottom, prepared to take to the lifeboats.

He said his crew could see neither if ships or planes were hit, but after the warships steamed away they heard an explosion and saw a fire column on the horizon.

The fishermen were operating near the Viking Bank, the skipper reported, when suddenly a "huge number" of warplanes approached from the west and five British warships from the east. He estimated the number of planes at 150. Soon the Kvaloy was in the midst of the battle.

The warships moved at full speed following a zigzag course the whole time. Finally the warships withdrew while the bombing squadrons disappeared eastward.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Great Britain today denied a German report she had supplied gas to Poland for use against German soldiers.

(In Berlin last night the Nazi news agency charged Britain had delivered mustard gas to Poland.)

An authoritative British statement contradicted what it called a "report circulated from Berlin" that Polish troops used British gas in an explosion that killed four soldiers at Jazlo.

Germany, Italy, Russia To Hold Military Huddle

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

BERLIN, Oct. 12. — Nazi sources tonight predict consultations between Germany, Italy and Soviet Russia would begin Friday to determine "decisions of far-reaching importance." According to these sources the consultations are expected to last about 48 hours and to be followed by an official announcement.

Germany and Italy are bound to consult under their military pact and Soviet Russia recently agreed to consult with Germany again if the Soviet-Nazi peace offensive failed.

German quarters said that after French Premier Edouard Daladier's radio reply to the peace terms offered by Adolf Hitler and there remained only the speech of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain which made Britain's position clear as to whether the Allies were determined to continue the war.

Nazi newspapers, which had led the campaign for peace, and published every little item which indicated that the Allies did not want to fight or that some neutral might step in, now admitted that peace was unlikely.

The blind faith with which the ordinary German clung to the belief that the war must end was particularly noticeable yesterday when rumors—alleged by the government to have been circulated by British spies as part of a campaign to shatter German morale—swept the city that an armistice had been agreed on and that the British cabinet had resigned.

Strangers grabbed each other's hands in the streets and shook hands over the "good news." A United Press correspondent was in a crowded government office when the official radio denied the rumors. Everybody stopped work. For two minutes or so business was at a standstill, and the evident disappointment of all in the office was painful to observe.

It was still a mystery today how the rumors started, except for the official statement that the British secret service was responsible. But neutral observers said that the rapidity with which the rumors spread among Germans was due at least to the peace hopes they had cherished.

GERMANS ARE REPULSED WITH HEAVY LOSSES

Series Of Thrusts Cost Nazis Hundreds Of Casualties On West Front

By JOHN MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 12.—German patrols battered French outposts from the Moselle to the Rhine today, continuing a series of thrusts reported to have cost the Nazis "hundreds" of casualties in the last three days without gaining "an inch of ground."

French advices, which told of "very hot" action in one unidentified sector during the night, said the latest assaults had been repulsed despite heavy preparation by German artillery.

At no point had the Germans been successful in attempts to take prisoners, according to these reports. The French, entrenched in positions from which they raked the advancing Germans with machine gun fire, described their own losses as "slight."

As the fighting increased in scope, with artillery thundering along the 100-mile front, the weather—which has been foggy and rainy—suddenly turned cold.

The French reported their reconnaissance planes had taken some "very interesting" photographs of German positions but said no Nazi airmen had attempted to cross the lines since Oct. 10, when one was shot down.

(This morning's German com-

SAILORS INVITE HITLER TO COME OVER AND PLAY

HALIFAX, Oct. 12.—A broadcast appeal to Adolf Hitler was delivered last night by the men of His Majesty's Canadian Navy. It was:

"Won't you come over and play?"

It happened during the program "The Navy Sings," broadcast over the coast to coast Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network from the naval dockyard here. Singsong leader George Young had the idea for a parody on a well-known song. The tars took it up enthusiastically.

It opened:

"Little Herr Hitler, how do you do?"

And finished:

"You're a nice little fellow, I know by your voice, but you're always so far away."

OTTAWA URGED TO TAKE OVER WHEAT STOCKS

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—Representatives of the Wheat Pools met the wheat committee of the cabinet this morning. It is learned that they strongly recommended that the government take over wheat supplies, paying the producers a price based upon the price paid to British growers by the British government. This is calculated as equivalent to $1.18 per bushel, Fort William, for the top grade. The open market would be closed.

There is no indication that a change in policy, so far as price or the closing of the market, is being considered by the government.

ance can be placed upon the promises of the present government.

"Accordingly, acts—not words alone—must be forthcoming before our gallant and trusted ally, would we, the British peoples, and France, be justified in ceasing to wage war to the utmost of our strength.

"Only when world confidence is restored will it be possible to find—as we would wish to do with the aid of all who show good-will — solutions of those questions which disturb the world, which stand in the way of disarmament, retard the restoration of trade and prevent improvement of the well-being of peoples.

"There is thus a primary condition to be satisfied. Only the German government can fulfil it. If they will not, there can as yet be no new or better world order of the kind for which all nations yearn.

ISSUE IS PLAIN

"The issue is plain. Either the German government must give convincing proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace by definite acts and by the provision of effective guarantees of their intention to fulfil their undertakings or we must persevere in our duty to the end. It is for Germany to make her choice."

The prime minister spoke only 16 minutes but it is doubtful if any speech he ever delivered was punctuated so freely with prolonged cheering. For once his usual icy cold delivery gave way to indignations and verbal emphasis seldom employed by him.

The 70-year-old prime minister literally brought the house to its feet by his declaration Britain could not accept peace at the price of honor.

SENTIMENTS ECHOED

These sentiments were approved and echoed by Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, who said there was no use accepting peace unless it could be used to build a better world.

Mr. Chamberlain repeated his conviction it would be impossible for Britain to abandon Poland or to accept peace terms which recognized the German conquest of Poland "without forfeiting her honor and abandoning her claim that international disputes should be settled by discussion and not by force."

DEFENCE OF FREEDOM

Britain was seeking no material advantage from the war, nor was she attempting to exclude Germany from her rightful place in Europe. Britain was fighting in the defence of world freedom, not for some vindictive purpose.

"We are not aiming only at victory," he declared, "but rather looking beyond it to the laying of the foundation of a better international system which will mean that war is not to be the inevitable lot of every succeeding generation.

"The peace which we are determined to secure, however, must be real and settled peace, not an uneasy truce interrupted by constant alarms and repeated threats. What stands in the way of such a peace, it is the German government and the German government alone, for it is they who, by repeated acts of aggression, have robbed all Europe of tranquility and implanted in the hearts of all their neighbors an ever present sense of insecurity and fear."

There was "complete agreement" between Britain and France on the unacceptability of Hitler's peace terms, the Prime Minister emphasized. August Zaleski, the Polish foreign minister now in London, had been consulted, the Prime Minister said, "and I am happy to say we have found an entire identity of view to exist between us."

Mr. Chamberlain's reference to Czecho-Slovakia as falling in the same category as Poland was believed to be extremely important because it was the first time Britain had hinted that the Czech republic must be re-established in any peace terms.

It was Mr. Chamberlain's first speech since Hitler's address last Friday in which the peace overtures were made. He stressed that Hitler's proposals were examined by Britain "in consultation with the governments of the dominions and of the French republic."

"The plain truth is that, after our past experience it is no longer possible to rely upon the unsupported word of the present German government," Mr. Chamberlain declared.

He told the commons that "Acts—not words alone—must be forthcoming before we and France would be justified in ceasing to wage war to the utmost of our strength."

"The issue is plain," he continued.

"Either the German government must give convincing proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace by definite acts and by the provision of effective guarantees of their intention to fulfill their undertakings or we must persevere in our duty to the end.

"It is for Germany to make her choice.

"We are not aiming only at victory but rather looking beyond it to laying the foundation of a better international system which will mean that war is not to be the lot of every succeeding generation.

"The peace which we are determined to secure, however, must be real and settled peace and not an uneasy truce interrupted by constant alarms and repeated threats.

"What stands in the way of such a peace?

"It is the German government and the German government alone.

WORLD NOT SAME

"Whatever may be the issue of the present struggle and in whatever way it may be brought into a conclusion, the world will not be the same world we have known before.

"It is no part of our policy to exclude from her rightful place in Europe a Germany which will live in amity and confidence with other nations.

"On the contrary we believe that no effective remedy can be found for the world's ills that does not take account of the just claims and needs of all countries.

HOLD LITTLE HOPE

"Whenever the time may come to draw the lines of a new peace settlement His Majesty's government would feel that the future would hold little hope unless such a settlement could be reached through the method of negotiation and agreement.

"It is not, therefore, with any vindictive purpose that we embarked on the war but simply in defence of freedom.

"It is not alone the freedom of small nations that is at stake; there is also in jeopardy the peaceful existence of Great Britain, the dominions, India, the rest of the British Empire, France and all freedom loving countries."

When the Prime Minister finished speaking, Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition, praised his statement and denounced Hitler's proposals "as made by a man whose word was utterly worthless."

In the upper house, Earl Stanhope, Lord President of the Council, made a government statement similar to that of Mr. Chamberlain.

Cap Norte

5,809 tons to German submarines and had taken 13,615 tons—the exact figure of the Cap Norte's gross tonnage.

NO DETAILS

Beyond saying the capture occurred in the South Atlantic, the Press Association's naval correspondent gave no details.

The Cap Norte was built at Hamburg in 1922 and was believed to have been carrying a cargo of foodstuffs and petroleum products.

Shipping circles at Buenos Aires, speculating on the identity of the German raider which sank the 5,501-ton British freighter Clement in the South Atlantic early this month, considered the Cap Norte a possibility.

WERE UNREPORTED

It was one of half a dozen German merchantmen which had left Brazilian and Argentine ports since the war and at that time still were unreported.

Shipping men said the speedy Cap Norte would have served well as a raider if she possessed or obtained armaments. The Cap Norte is one of the fastest liners in the South Atlantic service.

When she sailed from Recife, Port of Pernambuco she was heavily loaded with fuel and accompanied by two German freighters, both of them also carrying fuel and foodstuffs.

CARRIED CRUDE OIL

Shipping circles in Pernambuco said they understood the ships would try to reach Vladivostok, on Soviet Russia's Pacific coast. The Cap Norte carried about 2,500 tons of crude oil. Local companies had declined to supply the ships with fine fuel oils such as are used by submarines.

The two accompanying vessels were the 5,918-ton Tijuca and the 4,969-ton Curityba.

British cruisers had been reported operating on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of South America.

German Ship Crosses Atlantic To Avoid Navy

BAHIA BLANCA, Argentina, Oct. 12.—The crew of the 7,834-ton German merchantman Ussukuma reported upon the ship's arrival here Wednesday that it had been chased by British warships near the Cape of Good Hope, off the southern tip of Africa, and had sailed all the way across the south Atlantic to avoid capture.

The vessel, carrying passengers and a general cargo, was en route from Hamburg, Germany, to India when sighted by the British craft, the crew said.

Argentine authorities inspected the ship and ordered it to depart within three days because it lacked papers for Argentine ports.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The effectiveness of bombing planes against warships still is an open question, but evidence of the first few weeks of the war strengthens the view that anti-aircraft defences of modern ships are too strong for the bomber.

German planes dropped 100 bombs over a period of five hours against a squadron of British warships Monday in the North Sea, southwest of Norway, but none found its target. There were no hits and no casualties. Some of the bombs landed a mile away from any ship.

3 PLANES DISABLED

On the other hand British guns disabled at least three planes but the German losses are not known accurately.

It is true that British planes have sunk U-boats, but a submarine's gun is a puny weapon in comparison with the aerial broadside from a battleship, cruiser, or even a destroyer, and a submarine's deck gun cannot be used immediately before or after submerging.

The modern warship equipped with anti-aircraft guns and multiple pompoms can blanket a vast area with sufficient shrapnel and explosive force to make it impossible for any plane to fly through it and escape destruction.

That may be the reason why German planes dropped bombs a mile away from the ships—they could not get near enough to do any damage.

COSTLY PROCESS

This one naval-air engagement may be inconclusive evidence to settle the question of the effectiveness of bombers against warships but it at least shows that if Germany must rely on aircraft to destroy British supremacy at sea it will be a long, hazardous and extremely costly process.

GERMAN LOSSES IN POLISH WAR SAID 240,000

ZURICH, Oct. 12.—The Arbeiter Zeitung last night published what it described as "confidential Reichswehr statistics," claiming Germany suffered nearly 240,000 casualties in Poland instead of the 44,000 announced by Chancellor Hitler in his Reichstag speech.

Quoting a confidential Reichswehr source, Arbeiter Zeitung said German losses in Poland had totalled 91,728 dead, 63,471 seriously wounded, and 84,938 with minor wounds. The newspaper added that 190 German tanks were destroyed and 461 damaged, and that 89 pursuit planes, 216 light bombers, 107 heavy bombers and nine observation planes were lost.

GERMAN NAVY MAPS CAMPAIGN IN NORTH SEA

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—German naval authorities today mapped a campaign in the North Sea, DNB, German news agency, published a commentary by experts asserting that German warships are masters of the North Sea.

This followed an order for the air force to attack British naval units.

DNB, expanding on a boast by naval authorities, unsubstantiated elsewhere, that several British warships had been damaged in the North Sea battle Monday between British surface craft and German airplanes, declared the east and north coasts of the British Isles were within range of German bombers.

(British Admiralty denied any damage or casualties).

IROQUOIS HOME SAFELY AFTER NAZI "TIP-OFF"

made, although they received none of the details until landing here.

They were called together by the captain and given a partial explanation after the destroyers had come alongside. In the resultant search for explosives aboard the Iroquois—a search ordered by the United States government—some aboard heard a rumor a bomb had been planted and for a time, some passengers said, there was widespread fear.

INFORMATION INCREDIBLE

As the Iroquois pulled into her pier some 2,000 stood there to welcome her, shouting hoarsely across the wharf, and some sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Captain Chelton said the information the Iroquois might be sunk had seemed incredible, but "I was told I had to believe it until it was proved otherwise."

He said he received a warning from Washington at 8 a.m. last Thursday.

"The first thing I did," he went on, "was to call the heads of the (ship) departments together and tell them about it, instructing them at the same time not to speak to the passengers about it.

"Then I had the ship searched for radios. We took off radio antennae and removed tubes from several short wave sets which the crew had. The passengers did not have radios.

"Of course, the crew knew and the passengers too that there was something up, but they didn't know what.

PASSENGERS INFORMED

"On Sunday morning when the cutter came up, I told the passengers part of what had happened. I said I had information there would be other ships sunk as was the Athenia, but I didn't mention the Iroquois. The next day, two U.S. destroyers came up, and then I gathered the passengers in the lounge and announced specifically what my information was.

"They all cheered."

Chelton said the destroyers came within 300 to 500 yards of the Iroquois and stayed approximately within that range until the ship reached Ambrose light, outside the harbor, where the convoy dropped away.

Margaret Quilligan, a nurse in St. Katherine's hospital at Omaha, Neb., who had gone abroad to visit relatives in Eire, said the passengers on the return trip had heard rumors for several days that "submarines were after us."

NO TIME TO WORRY

"But," she added, "it was so terribly stormy and everyone was so awfully sick that we didn't have time to worry."

A radio operator, William McLaughlin, said the first intimation of possible danger to the ship came in a curt radio message from Washington, which announced, "your ship is to be sunk."

"When I got to that word 'sunk,' I was pretty scared," McLaughlin said.

From then on the ship's radio was tuned in to German and British broadcasts, from which were gleaned further developments on the warning. Details were withheld from the passengers, however.

An immediate search of all baggage, both below decks and in passenger cabins and staterooms, was ordered.

Each passenger was asked, "have you a package anybody gave you to hold during the voyage?" This was asked, explained Maurice Ulter, baggagemaster in charge of the search, on the theory a time-bomb might have been handed to an innocent passenger.

Nebraskan Pleads Aid For Allies

would favor repeal of the arms embargo in order to make doubly sure that the British navy will continue to stand between us and forces in Europe that I do not trust and respect."

The Nebraska senator held the embargo on sales of arms to belligerents operated "entirely to the benefit of Germany."

Opponents of the president's plan for revision of the neutrality law, to lift the embargo and make American war materials available to all belligerents on a cash or 90-day credit plan whereby foreign ships would be used in transportation, have contended embargo repeal would favor the Allies.

Basis for this theme has been the belief the British navy would guard allied commerce and keep Germany from enjoying trade with North America.

Burke declared Hitlerism was no less a danger to the United States than to Europe and that the embargo on sales of arms to belligerents did not mean such supplies could not reach belligerents through friendly neutrals.

"As long as the embargo stands we must not permit any of the prohibited articles to reach Canada, a belligerent," he said. "But since Italy and Russia are, by their own contention at least, in the class of neutrals, shipments of arms may be freely made to them. What happens thereafter we have little possibility of checking.

WANTS EVERY AID

"Everything that we can do short of supplying men and money should be done on the side of the allies as the most helpful means of bringing an early termination of the war with a just and lasting peace."

"Hitler is a menace not only to Europe but to our own country, striking at religion and at civilization itself," Burke declared. "We should loudly voice our condemnation of these leaders instead of giving material aid to Hitler and his associates. This embargo works entirely for the benefit of one side and entirely to the injury of the other."

Burke spoke after Senator Bennett Champ Clark (Democrat, Missouri), leading Democratic opponent of the administration's repeal policy, said the United States, if it desired to make the allied cause its own, should go the whole distance frankly and courageously, and at once. But, he said, he would not vote for participation in any form.

WAY OF TAKING SIDES

"If that makes me an isolationist, then you can make the best of it," Clark declared, adding that there was no secret about the fact that many in and out of the senate believed the United States should take sides in the war.

Repeal of the arms embargo, he said, was a "quiet" way of taking sides with the Allies against Germany, and would be an overture to complete participation.

"We can best serve the belligerent nations by remaining strictly neutral, building up our own defences and conserving our resources so that we may help in reconstruction when the warring powers are exhausted," said the Missouri senator.

He criticized Louis Johnson, assistant secretary for war who, he said, had been going about the United States inflaming the people with war scares and laying the groundwork for actual American participation in the war.

Senator Wallace H. White (Republican, Maine) declared he was against doing anything "affirmative" that would injure the cause of the Allies, but that he was against the revised neutrality bill in its present form.

BENEFITS CANADA

The amended measure was unfair, White said, in that it gave special benefits to Canada in the clause excluding commerce by land and inland waterways between that country and the United States, although Canada was a belligerent.

Meantime administration leaders renewed predictions that a final vote might be reached late next week.

It was announced Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose recent speech, counselling strict aloofness from the war attracted much attention, would continue his discussion in a broadcast address Friday night.

Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican, California), a leader of the forces opposing repeal of the arms ban, submitted to Chairman Key Pittman (Democrat, Nevada) of the foreign relations committee, an amendment which, it was reported, would leave American ships free in the Pacific to visit Australia, New Zealand and Canada.

Pittman declined comment pending study of the amendment, but Senator King (Democrat, Utah) predicted, after a conference with President Roosevelt, that the proposed restriction on American shipping would be modified.

The Pacific, King said, was outside the sphere of belligerent activities.

Member Of Bremen's Crew Relates Story Of Thrilling Voyage

Copyright, 1939, by the Associated Press

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 12.—A Netherlands seaman on the German liner Bremen declared today the vessel reached Murmansk, north Russian port, after a thrilling voyage during which she flew the Soviet flag and preparations were made to destroy her rather than allow her capture by the British navy.

E. Post, a cook and only Netherlands seaman on the Bremen when she sailed Aug. 30 from New York, told his story in a copyrighted interview with the Amsterdam newspaper Het Volk after his return to his native country.

SKIRTED BLOCKADE

He said Captain Adolf Ahrens skirted the blockade of the British fleet with barrels of gasoline on deck ready to fire the vessel rather than allow her to be taken.

The voyage was veiled in such secrecy, he said, that the crew did not know the liner's destination, all lights were extinguished during the north Atlantic crossing and the wireless answered no calls.

Post said that after some days at sea he realized the Bremen was sailing far to the north because of the cold weather.

EVERY PRECAUTION

There were no passengers or cargo and every precaution was made to save the crew in event of an attack.

The vessel was painted gray as she sped across the Atlantic. She travelled much of the time in heavy mist, which helped to conceal her from any ships near her course.

FLEW SOVIET FLAG

Post said the Bremen flew the Soviet flag and the flag of the North German-Lloyd line but carried no German colors.

He said Capt. Ahrens called the crew together Sept. 3, the day Great Britain and France declared war, and told them the war had started.

"It doesn't look very good for us," he quoted the captain as saying, "for I've sworn that the English won't seize me and my ship while I'm alive. I would rather sink the Bremen."

Post brought back pictures of crew activity on the voyage, showing among other things how they painted the hull of the liner while suspended in lifeboats.

One picture showed a group in which Post was conspicuous as the only one not giving the Nazi salute.

"Sir, what a journey we have had," the Hollander said in summing up the trip. "I can tell you I have sailed many seas in my life and have seen many ports, but I have experienced nothing like this.

BROUGHT US THROUGH

"The old man (Capt. Aherns) brought us through no matter what you might say about a Nazi captain."

(The Bremen, 51,731 tons and $20,000,000 flagship of the German merchant fleet, sailed from New York only 36 hours before Germany invaded Poland).

"Nobody knew what route would be taken," Post said.

"The first morning out everybody who had nothing more urgent to do, including butchers, stewards and cooks, plus a few sailors, all got pots of gray paint. Lifeboats were swung out and the men applied the paint to the sides of the ship, wielding paint brushes with long handles.

"In no time the Bremen was not the Bremen any more. In the mist at 200 metres (656 feet) distance you could not have seen the Bremen.

'The Bremen was called by radio from various stations, but of course kept silent.

FAR UP NORTH

"From the icy cold we concluded we were far up north, which proved to be the case afterward.

"We were called together by the captain who told us that between England and Iceland there was a watch of English ships every 10 miles; that they might not be men-o'-war, but anyhow they were ships ready to seize us and take us in.

"Drills were conducted regularly to ensure that we would be able to get into the lifeboats as quickly as possible in case of emergency. Alarm signals were set up everywhere in the ship.

CABINS VACANT

"The cabins of the crew in the fore of the ship were left vacant so that in case of a collision the crew would be safer. Barrels of gasoline were on deck so that if English men-'o-war neared, the Bremen could be set on fire.

"Everybody took a few things with him to carry in the lifeboats. We got very little sleep. We did not undress as at any moment we might come across a trawler or some other vessel which might seize us. Numb with cold, sailors were on the lookout in the crow's nest or on the foreships.

"At last we learned we were somewhere between Iceland and Spitzbergen. On the morning of Sept. 6, three days after the outbreak of war, we sighted the coast of Murmansk. As we came near the shore we saw a man-o'-war which afterward appeared to be a Russian cruiser. Then we were anchored in the bay of Murmansk.

"We were not allowed to go ashore, but that didn't matter, for during the daytime we were looking at snowy mountains and in the evenings we were in the large assembly room looking at movies or listening to the ship's orchestra. After we had seen our films we borrowed others from other German ships, for every day more German freight and passenger ships entered port.

DELIVER PAPERS

"Everybody had to deliver his papers to the captain, also his part of $2,000 which was divided among the crew during the journey back.

"One day the German ambassador came on board to discuss the situation with the captain. We heard that together with other crews we would go to Leningrad by train and from there in German ships to Kiel and then to Bremerhaven."

GERMANS ARE REPULSED WITH HEAVY LOSSES

munique said a French plane had been shot down in an aerial fight south of Lauterbourg, France. It also reported "minor reconnoitering, troop and artillery activity" on the western front and "a little air scouting activity over the North Sea and in the east.")

ABANDON PASSIVENESS

Describing the German attacks as steadily increasing in scope and intensity, semi-official sources said the Nazis had definitely abandoned the "passive attitude" which they have been pursuing until recently on the western front.

The extent of the operations was indicated by the general staff's morning communique, which reported "activity of first line elements during the night on several parts of the front between the Moselle and Rhine rivers."

The French declared the Germans now were employing their most seasoned troops in place of the reservists who slowly retreated before the French during the first weeks of the war.

Germans Unable Use Tanks On West Front

By AXEL DE HOLSTEIN
Havas Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 12—The nature of the terrain, the fortifications of the French and their powerful defensive artillery are making it impossible for the Germans to use their tanks on the western front on the scale employed in Poland, French army officials said last night.

At best, the tanks can be used in the Maginot Westwall zone only as an auxiliary to the infantry, cleaning out opposing trenches and artillery posts with foot soldiers to support the attack.

In this capacity, and in a very limited way, the French have thus far sent their tanks into action but officials said results have been highly satisfactory. The French armored war-machines have proved themselves impenetrable to the shells of Nazi anti-tank guns.

NAZIS ON DEFENSIVE

The Germans, on the other hand, have been on the defensive, and thus far have not used their tanks at all, it was said.

There are no vast plains on the French frontier and, where the Poles lacked sufficient anti-tank equipment, the French have guns of the latest model, and enough of them.

The Poles had an open border. The French have the Maginot line.

From the Rhine to the Moselle—100 miles—the terrain is uneven and hilly, gashed with deep gullies and rivers which are impassable for tanks.

PROTECTING TRENCH

The Lauter river forms a trench protecting Alsace, where there is a 30-mile line suitable for side tank manoeuvres, and to make the river more formidable is the Maginot line.

The only passage is on the west, at the Wissembourg gap between Bien forest and the advance slopes of the lesser Vosges. But this gap is less than three miles wide.

Assurance Already Given By Mackenzie King, Leader States

as its candidate for Quebec East in the provincial elections of Oct. 25.

One-time Liberal, Mr. Drouin joined Paul Gouin's Action Nationale Liberale in 1935 and then changed his allegiance to Maurice Duplessis upon formation of Union Nationale. Upon election of the Duplessis government in 1935, Mr. Drouin became minister of lands and forests but resigned to join the dissident group of "Nationalists" headed by Dr. Philippe Hamel.

FOLLOWED "FALSE STAR"

Mr. Godbout declared his pleasure at having Drouin under the Liberal banner again. Mr. Drouin, speaking before Mr. Godbout, to an audience of workers in Quebec East, said he was proud to return to Liberal ranks after following what he called the "false star" of Maurice Duplessis.

Mr. Godbout said Premier Duplessis had never proved the "base accusations" he had made against the Liberal party in the 1936 election campaign. "And he never has had the courage to withdraw the accusations he knew in his heart were false."

The premier had not carried out his promises to prove the "scandals of the Liberal regime" because he knew he could not, Mr. Godbout said. The public accounts committee inquiry had died away and had sat a mere 15 minutes at the last session of the legislature.

"EXAMPLE OF HYPOCRISY"

"Why has Duplessis called this election?" asked the Liberal leader. "His mandate from the people has two years to run, he has an overwhelming majority in the legislature, yet he must call an election, which he says is necessary to defend our provincial autonomy. That is ridiculous and an example of Duplessis hypocrisy.

"The real reason is that he has brought the province to the verge of bankruptcy. He has spent money with such abandon and so mishandled the affairs of the province that today he can not borrow any more money.

"What other province has complained of infringement of its provincial rights through the central government's war measure?"

The rest of the provinces knew their provincial rights were not in jeopardy, Mr. Godbout said, and knew the dominion government must take extraordinary measures of control in wartime.

CONSCRIPTION RAMPART

"But Mr. Duplessis has another barrel to his gun," he said, "and that's his fear of conscription. The people of this province know full well, however, that the only rampart against conscription is the anti-conscription bloc at Ottawa, composed of Justice Minister Lapointe, Works Minister Cardin and Postmaster-General Power. They all have given their word they will fight conscription, even if it means the end of their political careers.

"I myself have confidence in the assurance of the Liberal government at Ottawa that there will be no conscription because they have never before lied to the electorate," said Mr. Godbout.

Turning to internal issues, Mr. Godbout charged the premier with "Sabotage of the system of collective labor agreements, the workers' best safeguard." The agreements had been replaced by an "unworkable fair wage scale which had done nothing but produce disputes between employees and the government and between employers and their employees."

HELP AGRICULTURE

If the Liberals were elected, they would continue their tried and proved policy of aid to agriculture, he said. "Don't you workers think for a moment that agriculture has no interest for you—it has. For when agriculture is not prosperous, the farm boys flock to the cities to look for work, perhaps looking for your jobs. In addition, their prosperity is a guarantee of your own, for they must be able to buy the goods you produce."

The premier, also attorney general, often had spoken of the administration of justice, Mr. Godbout said. "I would like to say a word about it, too—of the convicts now employed by the provincial police, of the official blindness to a score of crimes, of contraband liquor transported in government vehicles."

"Despite these police, despite blackjacks and intimidation our Liberal meetings in this campaign will continue to be held."

Loss Of Autonomy Feared By Duplessis

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHNS, Que., Oct. 12. — Premier Maurice Duplessis declared at a political campaign rally last night that a "grave hour has come for the province of Quebec; all we hold most dear is in danger."

Speaking in this Richelieu valley centre, the premier pictured the province in danger of losing its autonomy through what he called the Dominion government's attempt at "centralization".

Because this "danger" confronted the province, his government had called the provincial election for Oct. 25. The province, he said, must never accept centralization at the cost of losing its autonomy.

The premier turned to the criticism of his political opponents who had charged him with placing the province in near - bankruptcy through heavy expenditures.

He defended the expenditures by declaring the money had been spent "for old age pensions, pensions for needly mothers, for unemployment relief and farm loans, which saved Quebec's farming class, guardians of the province's traditions and the base of its security and stability."

The Union Nationale government was described by the premier as the "only safeguard against conscription — a vote for Duplessis is a vote against conscription."

On the other hand, he charged, Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, federal minister of justice, and Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, works minister, have promised the people of Quebec they will protect them against conscription. But only a few months ago they also promised they were opposed to Canada's participation in any extra-territorial war."

COMMENTS ON CHANGES

The premier also commented on the change in Dominion government portfolios and asked why Hon. Norman Rogers had been changed from the labor ministry to that of national defence.

"How is it from one day to another labor minister became minister of defence?" he asked. "Was it to conscript the unemployed?"

He attacked the Dominion government again for what he branded as their refusal to give Quebec money for unemployment relief works "when they managed to find $165,000,000 for armaments." The Dominion government also had "refused to help Quebec's unemployed; but premiums were paid on Saskatchewan cattle."

Again the Premier criticized censorship of radio political speeches and charged "Mr. Lapointe wants to conscript voices and throats before conscripting souls." Communists, meanwhile, were "permitted to circulate their insidious propaganda," while in France the Communist party had been dissolved. Yet, he said, Quebec was being criticized for its anti-Communist padlock law.

CLAIMS WEST FAVORED

Under Confederation, the provinces were to have been given "a fair share" of federal revenues through contributions toward provincial administration costs, but while Dominion revenues increased, the Dominion government's contributions to Quebec diminished.

Mr. Duplessis said Quebec contributed 30 per cent of the Dominion government's income but was being "starved" in favor of the western provinces.

"The western provinces do not care about their autonomy. Ottawa taxes Quebec in favor of the western provinces which are ready to disappear."

Quebec's government in the last three years spent more than $35,000,000 for relief works despite Ottawa's refusal to contribute, he added. The central government's refusal to help Quebec in the relief question was evidence of its determination to burden the province with debt, "the better to assimilate it."

There could be no question about Quebec's loyalty, he declared. In fact, the present government had fought the "German menace" long before the outbreak of war by preventing Germans from "taking possession of Anticosti Island." He himself had halted the plans of industrialists who proposed to sell the island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence "and the province is the richer for it."

WAR SERVICES BRANCH IS SET UP BY LEGION

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Formation of the Canadian Legion war services as a special branch of the dominion command was announced here Wednesday by J. R. Bowler, Legion general secretary.

Lieut.-Col. Ralph Webb of Winnipeg, member of the Manitoba legislature and former mayor of Winnipeg, has been appointed general manager and Captain Ben W. Allen of Ottawa assistant general manager of the new department.

The principal objects of the Canadian Legian war services will be the establishment of personal service bureaux in Canada and overseas, Mr. Bowler said.

Gouin Threatens Confederation Pact

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—A cheering crowd of 2000 greeted a warning by Paul Gouin last night that an Action Liberale Nationale government at Quebec "will put an end to the confederation pact" if any dominion administration imposes conscription.

The young A.L.N. leader said his party "will block the road" to "unlimited participation" in the war.

"I would like to state the attitude we shall take on conscription, if we are elected," Gouin said. "We do not intend to resign as Mr. Lapointe (justice minister Ernest Lapointe) said he would do if the Liberals are defeated.

"SHALL BLOCK ROAD"

"But, once elected, if Ottawa wants to engage Canada in an unlimited participation, we shall block the road. And, I'll go even further—and I am not a separatist. But if conscription is imposed upon us, by whatever government is in power at Ottawa our vital interests will compel us to put an end to the confederation pact."

The 41-year-old lawyer-leader was cheered again when he remarked that neither the Union Nationale nor Liberal parties had taken such a "energetic stand."

Gouin amused the audience with his description of Liberal leader Adelard Godbout's "good friends from Ottawa." There were choruses of "shoos" and "boos" each time the names of Mr. Godbout, Mr. Laponte or the public works minister, P. J. A. Gardin, were mentioned.

Gouin accused the dominion ministers of the "most shameful blackmail in their attempt to save the party by threatening to send your sons to war if you do not vote for their party."

ATTACKS LAPOINTE

"Take Mr. Lapointe who said in his address Monday night that 'we are the rampart between you and conscription—we are the wall that protects you and even those who insult us.' But what is the value of that wall?

"Two years ago the King government started intensifying military preparations. These were said to be only for the defence of Canada. There were two by-elections during which the armament issue was discussed and both Mr. Lapointe and Mr. Cardin declared they had opposed firmly any participation in overseas wars.

"Mr. Lapointe even went so far as to state that he no longer would be a minister if the armament budget were for anything else than the defence of Canada. He even went so far as to back up Mr. King's participation policy by a speeech in the House of Commons."

CITES CARDIN STATEMENT

Gouin said Works Minister Cardin had declared in a Montreal-St. Henry by-election speech that Prime Minister King had "stated at least a dozen times, at Ottawa, Geneva and London, that the armament expenditures would be only for the defence of the country." Gouin claimed the works minister had said, "Personally, I took the stand against any participation outside of Canada."

"I have the right to say that the comedy has lasted long enough," Gouin continued, adding that the story of the wall or rampart might be entitled "The Wall That Moves, or The Wall That Betrays."

Gouin reminded his listeners, "I am not here to insult Mr. Lapointe, or to throw mud at a man whom I long considered the leader at Ottawa of the French-Canadians."

The A.L.N. leader said at the outset that Quebec, "I would say the entire country," is at the crossroads of its history.

THREE ROADS OPEN

"There are three roads open to the province: you have the Boulevard Maurice (Mercredit) Duplessis, the Boulevard Tascherau-Godbout-Lapointe, and you have the Boulevard Action Liberale Nationale," he said.

The first two "boulevards" were paved with the "gold of the trusts; covered with pretexts and broken electoral promises." The "boulevard Action Liberale Nationale" was "laid by the sacrifices of the people of the province and leads inevitably to the liberation of the people of the province."

Gouin asserted both the Union Nationale and the Liberal party are "attempting to divert the attention of the electors from the real issues." Neither one side nor the other mentioned "economic dictatorship which is responsible for the present position of the province."

QUESTION AVOIDED

"They do not speak of this important question, and why?" Gouin asked. "Because both are slaves of the trusts, which are financing their electoral campaigns. If either party were elected the trusts will be the real winner."

Premier Duplessis had promised in a 1936 election speech to "protect human capital and bring the trusts to reason." But, Mr. Gouin claimed, the Union Nationale leader had done nothing to break the "trusts".

The premier appeared in the present election as the "newborn champion of provincial autonomy," but only, Gouin said, to "divert attention from his innumerable broken promises and to cover up his deficits and betrayals."

Famous Army Figures Leading British Troops On Europe War Fronts

LONDON, Oct. 12—Commanders of the Aldershot and southern commands in England now are at the head of army corps in France, War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha informed the house of commons Wednesday.

In disclosing particulars of Great Britain's part in the western front preparations, the war secretary gave out the names of three officers who are assisting Viscount Gort, British commander-in-chief in France.

ALL EXPERIENCED MEN

Command of the first army corps was entrusted to Lieut. General Sir John Dill, who held the Aldershot command since 1937 and formerly was general officer commanding Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

Lieut. General Alan Francis Brooke, commanding the southern command since last July, now heads the second army corps in France. He was an artillery staff officer during the last war, serving for more than a year with the Canadian corps.

The third officer named by Mr. Hore-Belisha was Lieut. General H. R. Pownall, chief of staff to Lord Gort. He had been director of military operations and intelligence at the war office since 1938.

DILL BEST KNOWN

Of the three officers, General Dill is the best known. He was sent to Palestine in 1936 at the height of the first terrorist outburst and returned with an enhanced reputation. He served with distinction in France and India and held several appointments including the post of commandant of the staff college, Camberley, and director of military operations and intelligence. He is 58.

General Brooke, an Ulsterman, as is General Dill, commanded the first mechanized mobile division in Britain's history. In the Czecho-Slovak crisis of 1938 he took over command of the anti-aircraft forces and rushed through development of that part of national defence. He is 56.

Record Apple Crop Ready For Market

KELOWNA, B.C., Oct. 12—The largest apple crop in the history of the Okanagan Valley will move into the western market this week backed by a record advertising appropriation it is announced by Dave McNair, sales manager of the growers' selling agency. The situation is an unusual one he said. It is brought about by war conditions that have restricted the export market and weather conditions particularly favorable to the growth of this year's crop.

REICH PLANS GIVE BULGARIA OIL FOR FOOD

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 12—A reliable source said last night that Germany has agreed to buy $19,200,000 worth of Bulgarian foodstuffs, paying for $12,000,000 worth of it by shipping oil to Bulgaria and the rest in gold.

A government communique said briefly that three weeks of negotiations with Germany on trade relations had "ended satisfactorily."

The reported plan of Germany to ship to Bulgaria oil which she was believed to be vitally in need of herself was a puzzle to observers here who were unable to obtain an explanation immediately.

Canadian Girl Helping To Popularize Catchiest Ditty of Present War

By FRED BACKHOUSE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON Oct. 12.—Because catchy ditties are popular in war time a British Columbia girl named Inga Andersen and Private Jimmy Kennedy are reaping fame and a little of fortune from a number that promises to become the war's new "Tipperary."

He wrote it; she popularized it.

The title of the ditty is "We're Gonna Hang Out the Washing on the Siegfried Line." The line that gets the most lusty treatment runs, "if the Siegfried line's still there."

COMES WITH A BANG

Private Kennedy, in pre-war days a successful young songwriter, hummed as he did 20-up, 20-down sentry duty beside a reservoir "somewhere in the south of England."

Words, music and headlines of the day ran through his head. It's a habit. In the song business topicality is most of the battle.

So the song came to him with a bang that "almost made me drop my gun," he said.

He sent for hs partner, Michael Carr, and together they worked it out in snatches between Kennedy's sentry duty.

They tried it out on the troops one night. The concert was a success and the embryo war song was hurried to London for the opening of a cabaret show at the Cafe de Paris.

PRINCE GEORGE GIRL

There Miss Andersen, once of Prince George, B.C., leads her audience through its simple measures each night.

By day there are echoes of it in the streets. The messenger boys whistle it—and that is a sign of success.

SPEEDING EMPIRE PRODUCTION!

Canadian Nickel
IN TRANSPORTATION, FACTORY, FARM AND FOREST

As the Empire organizes for increased production Canadian Nickel plays an increasingly important role.

Ships traverse waterways and oceans with condenser tubes of Cupro-Nickel which has lasted six times as long as other metals in this service. Nickel Steels and other Nickel alloys give great strength, reduce wear and breakage and resist corrosion by salt water in vital parts of engines, turbines, shafts and propellers. Freighters, their holds lined with pure Nickel which is rustproof, corrosion-resistant, and quickly and completely cleaned with live steam, carry cargoes of chemicals, wheat, kerosene, and other materials on successive trips with no fear of contamination.

On our farms and in our forests, in shops, factories, railroads and in heavy industry, new equipment and machinery call for the use of Nickel and still more Nickel to bring strength, dependability and reduced breakdowns at this critical period when production must be maintained.

And so as Empire industry gears itself for whatever production may be required, the Nickel industry stands ready to do its share.

The Empire Air Base

Canada is to be the training ground for airmen from Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand as well as of recruits enlisting in this Dominion. The plan, announced at London and Ottawa, is to make Canada the base where fliers from the other Empire countries will receive intermediate and advanced instruction, while Canada's flying men will train here from start to finish.

The geographic position of the Dominion is thus to be utilized to the full in the development of the aviation branch of the fighting forces of the Empire. It is far enough removed to be safe from serious interference by enemy raiders, and near enough that trained men and their machines can reach the front with little delay as and when required. In that respect, and in many others, the position of the Dominion is ideal. It is within flying distance of London, but not within effective bombing range from Berlin.

The plan would not have been disclosed if it had not been definitely decided upon, nor unless the intention were to put it into effect as quickly as practicable. There will follow, it may be supposed, the immediate enlargement of the existing facilities at established training fields, and the opening of new fields at points in the western provinces. There will also be of necessity a calling-in of trained airmen to act as instructors. And no doubt a speeding up of airplane-building by the extension of present plants and the creation of new ones.

Canada, in a word, is to become the aviation centre of the Empire for war purposes; thanks to its location, its resources, the nature of the country, and—by no means least—the readiness and the success with which young Canadians have "taken to the air" in times of war and peace.

Stalin Cashes In

Bomb proof shelters are being dug in Stockholm, while army reserves supplement the regular forces in manning the border posts. The civilian population is being evacuated from Helsingfors, while a delegation is at Moscow in answer to a summons.

These facts tell the story of the alarm that has spread in Sweden and Finland as a result of the Soviet concessions demanded and granted in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. The fate that has overtaken the three smaller states is foreseen to be the fate intended for the other two whose shores are washed by the Baltic Sea.

Stalin has no intentions, so far as indications go, to fight for Hitler. He is too busy capitalizing the opportunities for expansion opened to him by the destruction of Poland and the preoccupation of Britain and France. The Baltic, if there is any logic in events, is to be turned into a Russian lake. The irony of it is that these measures are being taken supposedly to guarantee Russia against attack—from the Nazi power with which the Soviet is in economic alliance.

People in Germany who are allowed to hear or read the news will see in this the proof that Stalin does not trust Hitler any more than do Chamberlain and Daladier. Admiral Raeder for one sees quite clearly what the Soviet chief is doing, and has offered to resign in protest because the supposed friend of the Fuehrer is grabbing all the strategic points and islands in the Baltic and bottling up his submarines on that front while the British and French fleets are chasing and sinking them in the North Sea.

If the traditional faculty for reflection has not been completely propagandized out of German minds, a good many in that country must be wondering how much Germany gained by smashing Poland for the benefit of Russia; and how it could profit by fighting a long and costly war on the western front while Stalin continues to grab territory and build up power on its eastern front.

Will History Repeat?

This is Fire Prevention Week, during which every Canadian who has reached the age of understanding is being urged by the national Government, and by provincial and local authorities as well, to give particular attention to the matter of preventing fire destroying his property, that of his neighbors, and that of the public. With winter approaching, when hot fires will be required in homes and business places, the reminder is well timed.

Lists have been published at this season for many years to tell the private citizen things he should do, and also things he should not do, to this end. But these are generalizations. Exactly what steps he should take in the interests of safety the individual must decide for himself, after a survey of his premises. A good deal depends on location, the materials out of which buildings are constructed, the type of heating and cooking appliances in use, and various other circumstances.

But where the will to co-operate is present the means will suggest themselves if thought is given to the matter. In detail this is a job every one must set for himself and carry out in the light of conditions which only he can fully know. What it all boils down to is whether the individual will interest himself enough to look about and see what should be done in and around his own home, farm, store, office or factory, and do it.

We have not as a nation been attending to this duty with even ordinary prudence in the past. Last year 44,000 fires in Canada destroyed and damaged property to the estimated value of more than $25,000,000. The estimate seems low when there is taken into account the vast areas of forests which were turned from merchantable timber to useless stumps and charred logs, in addition to the definitely known losses of improved property.

And here is something for the householder to ponder. Of the 44,000 fires, three-quarters occurred in dwellings. How many of these would have occurred if every householder in the land had taken Fire Prevention Week seriously and put his premises in order two years ago? One-tenth? It is doubtful if the number would have been that large.

Grimmest of items in last year's record; 263 men, women and children were burned to death or died after suffering indescribable torture as the result of injuries sustained in and because of fires. With that horrible fact before him, the Canadian who can disregard Fire Prevention Week must be singularly wanting in care for the lives of his family and his neighbors.

Every once in a while a German U-boat commander does something to win the respect and admiration of civilized people, and which likely enough gets him "in wrong" with the Nazi headmen at home. One of them sailed into an Irish port and landed the crew of a ship he had sent to the bottom. It should be recognized that he risked his life and the loss of his ship and crew in doing so, for had a British bomber seen the sub he would have tried to sink it, unaware of the humane mission on which it was engaged. If men of that type were ruling Germany there would be no war.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

CROP OUTLOOK IS PROMISING

Yesterday I received a touching compliment. My barber asked which way I preferred my hair parted. He was a bit of a flatterer at that, but after having found no consolation for many years in the text of Scripture that assures all thinly-thatched men that the hairs of their head are numbered, I'm managing to raise a new crop of fuzz. I'd assumed that to lose hair from the top of the dome was the common lot of the intelligentsia, but a hair doctor I met a couple of months ago says baldness is nothing but the result of a tight scalp caused by wearing tight hats and omitting to treat the hair rough. Seemingly he was right. Vigorous massage and ruffling up the scalp has started the alfalfa crop again, with the color sacs functioning so that I am losing the dignified appearance that goes with steel-gray hair. It's coming back to the original dirty brown.

Now I think of it I can see the explanation for an elderly friend who has an immense crop of bushy, wavy hair. He has a habit of pulling at it, as if he is trying to drag out handsfull by the roots. Each time I saw him tear at his hair I thought he was tempting Providence; whether he knows it or not he was loosening his scalp so that the blood could course under the skin.

I pass the tip on to any of the cash customers whose foreheads extend clear round to the back of their heads.

IF YOU WANT TO WOO SLEEP

And here's a tip to those real sufferers who find it hard to woo refreshing sleep. Dr. Louis J. Karnosh of Cleveland who has specialized in treating insomnia says that the old trick of counting sheep is more likely to keep one awake than put him to sleep. He even advises against my own method of taking a book to bed. "Anything that requires concerted thinking leads the person away from, rather than toward, sleep," he says. His advice to the sufferer is to lie down, relax the muscles and the mind, avoid all concentration and let the thoughts wander where they will. Unfortunately, doc., when one has troubles, these wandering thoughts all seem to wander towards the trouble point.

A better way for troubled souls is to repeat slowly the words of Browning:

"Where the quiet-colored end of evening
smiles,
Miles and miles,
On the solitary pastures where our sheep
Half asleep,
Tinkle homeward through the twilight."

As you repeat the lines slowly and still more slowly, think of the soft twilight, the broad pastures, the tired sheep turning homeward after the long day, following their leader with his softly tinkling bell, going home to sleep—to sleep. The wide pastures, the quiet sleep—the dimming twilight—the sound sleep.

You won't need to bother to count the sheep—you'll be too sleepy.

MONEY AND HAPPINESS

Marriage is always a gamble. Young folks meander in a magic garden of love in their courtship days. The acid test come afterwards when the realities of life in the daily round make themselves felt. Where there is tolerance and sympathy the love continues; where these are lacking one or other becomes a quitter. My hair doctor friend attributes his thirty-five years of unalloyed happiness to the circumstance that he and his wife were boy and girl sweethearts and never had any other. He tells me—and it's a wholesome thing when grown men exchange such confidences—that he has never left his home in the long course of his married life without a parting embrace and a kiss. But I could cite him cases of boy and girl sweethearts who married and made life a purgatory for each other.

A new book "Predicting Success or Failure in Marriage," by Professors Ernest W. Burgess of the University of Chicago and Leonard S. Cottrell of Cornell University, is the fruit of nine years of research by these two sociologists. Many men have spent longer time and much brain-sweat on less useful studies.

One popular misconception—that "Cinderella" marriages between couples of opposite financial standings are doomed to fail—is entirely blasted by the researchers. While they find that moderate income, savings, stable employment and social control are factors in sucsuccessful marriage, they admit that not all of these together can make happiness predictable. They confess to surprise at the discovery that pre-marital economic standing is not a factor, and that the marriages of poor "Cinderellas" and well-to-do "Prince Charmings" invariably proved to be happy.

Girls! Don't reject any suitor merely because he happens to have a million dollars. There's many a true heart beats beneath a well-starched dress shirt.

BEHIND BARS, AT LAST

A veteran Philadelphia newspaper man has gone to jail for financial racketeering, and the scandal sheet he published has suspended. I have always despised him for his prostitution of the printed page.

My contempt doubtless has been tinged by the memory of a trick he tried to play on me when I was a very young reporter. Under the guise of fraternal sharing of news, he gave me a sensational tale that would have involved my paper in a libel suit, had it been printed. And it probably would have ended my newspaper career. The "joke" was born of innate cussedness. When, through the years, I have learned of the man's misdeeds, I have said to myself, "Just like him."

Not all mean and low spirits end in jail; but every tree does bear fruit after its own kind. The young man who will cruelly deceive a boy will go on deceiving people, unless the grace of God intervenes, until punishment overtakes him.

Deliver us, dear Lord, from all meanness and pettiness of spirit. May we early learn to walk that Way which is milestoned by justice and love. Amen.

Read Philippians 3:15-21.

A Long Ordeal

We must gird ourself for an ordeal long and bitter. It has been shown already that no weapon is too barbarous to be employed if it serves its turn. We may be faced with the loathsome choice between following the enemy's lead in such matters as the use of gas and suffering serious military detriment by refraining. Through it all we must keep our purpose and our conscience clear. We enter this conflict with great advantages. The country is united as it has never been on the eve of battle since Napoleon's day. There is no such dissident minority as went into opposition in 1914. We know what we are fighting for; we know that in this war, our country has no selfish ends to serve; we know that nothing that might have stopped it has been left untried. National unity, which the reorganizations and revolutions due to war will in some directions strain heavily, must at all costs be preserved. A peace based on justice, not on Polish or French or British interests, must be the pledged purpose, and the single tolerable outcome of the struggle. Germany's claims, so far as they were just before she fought, will be just still. But for acquisitive aggression there can be no quarter.—The Spectator, London.

The Record Behind the Speech

Peace under such conditions as Hitler would have it, would bring no peace to Europe. It would be the surrender of minorities to the power of the sword, and the negation of the causes for which the Allies entered the war. No peace proposal can be acceptable which does not free Europe from the menace of aggression, and there must be assurances that Germany's undertakings would be backed by something more substantial than the promises of the past two years.

This picturesue idea of the "outstretched hand," dripping with the blood of stricken Poland, is not likely to be impressive.

Says the Fuehrer, Germany has no demands to make on France or Britain in asking why should the war in the West continue. His statement of the case, except for the necessary amendments in regard to Eastern Europe, created by the changed status of Russia in relation to the Baltic and the Balkans, presents little that is new to warrant the Allied nations from receding from the position they took up in their original ultimatum declaring a state of war.

He is prepared to let the world call it a sign of weakness that after laying waste a nation he is ready to treat for peace, but the trouble is that a peace at this stage—unsupported by disarmament—would be equivalent to compel the doing again of what has been necessary since the Treaty of Versailles was torn up, acceptance of another Munich with all its implications.

How can the Allies treat seriously the vaporings of a man who mendaciously asserts, "I have never broken a promise." The history of civilization affords no parallel of so many broken undertakings, the history of Europe since the rise of Nazism being the story of repeated violations of plighted pacts and pledges.

And this man who declared his aspirations in Europe limited to a reassembly of the lost German-speaking inhabitants now voices the philosophy of ethnographic resettlement of nationalities! That might be interpreted by exactly what the conquerors of primitive times meant by their inroads and excursions and massacres of weaker neighbors.

He who has become the symbol of breaking down the barriers which an outraged humanity tried 20 years ago to set around the shattered Reich now asks the western nations to fall into the trap which Prussianized Germany set in 1914!

This abuse of conquered Poland in the speech could only be the prelude to that extravagant and extraordinary self praise which followed. It shows an utterly unrepentent Fuehrer, who has learned nothing, and whose only wish is to gain by provocative acts—Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Memel, Danzig.

The London authorities naturally stress "the perversions of the truth" in the earlier stages of the speech. How could they do otherwise? An eighteenth century writer said, "Peace rules the day, where reason rules the mind." There is no evidence of the latter principle in this latest speech of Hitler.—Victoria Times.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Today is the anniversary of the completion of the Union cabinet in 1917, and the abolition "for the duration" of political antagonism, except of course, among the opponents of conscription. In his memoirs Sir Robert Borden devotes many pages to the negotiations which preceded the actual completion of the task. One of his admissions is an interesting confession of his own bad temper. Just before the final line-up, Arthur Meighen and Sir Thomas White objected that the admission of certain western Liberals would be unfair to Ontario. Thereupon, to quote Sir Robert: "On both occasions, my nerves, now completely frayed, were unable to control a temper which has always been rather violent, but which throughout my life I have kept in almost perfect discipline. Thus, on both occasions, I went into the air and expressed my opinion of the whole situation and of everyone connected with it in terms that were not lacking in force and were not characterized by an excess of politeness. My auditors, who were accustomed to nothing more than a rather intense earnestness, were profoundly astonished at the scene which they had created. However, I am sure the incident had a good effect."

It is not often that a public man thus admits his frailty, but it was by no means the first time that Sir Robert "lost his temper." More than once he lashed Sam Hughes with his tongue so loudly that folks in the anteroom were astonished that the mild Borden could ever manifest enough energy to become angry. On one of those days, one of the prime minister's secretaries even told newspapermen: "That's nothing. You ought to see R.L. when he is really mad."

But it was no wonder that Sir Robert's nerves were frayed. The negotiations for a union cabinet had lasted from May 25, every day having its episode. But the sequel was worth while because Sir Robert wrote:

"From first to last not once was there any division upon former party lines. Perhaps the artificial character of party division in Canada was never better exemplified."

"I have all the insurance I can handle, but possibly I could interest you in some gilt-edged bonds?"

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

The avocado is very nourishing, most of its food value being stored in the form of oil. The oil itself is similar to butter in that it is easily digested.

The oil found in the marketed varieties ranges between 21 and 26 per cent. This means that when you are eating the flesh of an avocado as high as one-fourth of what you are getting is in the form of this easily digested oil.

It is the exceedingly rich oil content which makes this fruit so highly valued as an energy-yielding food.

From the oil standpoint alone the avocado is unique among fresh fruits as there is no other which equals it. The olive is likewise rich in oil, but as the olive is processed before use it is not considered a fresh fruit.

In regard to protein the avocado is considerably richer than the average fresh fruit, the protein content running about 1½ per cent. The carbohydrate content is about 4 per cent.

The avocado is a good source of food minerals, containing calcium, magnesium, potassium, sodium and others. It is alkaline-forming. As to vitamins, it is reportedly an excellent source of vitamins A and B.

The flavor of the avocado is somewhat difficult to describe, being similar in a way to the flavor of nuts, but at the same time "buttery." Many people do not care for the avocado the first time they take it, but by keeping on using it, they cultivate such a taste for the fruit that it is hereafter eagerly prized. Ohers enjoy the flavor from the start.

Avocadoes vary as to size, shape and coloring. Those of average market size run around 1 pound or over. The fruit may be almost round in shape, although it is commonly egg-shaped. On the outside, the color may be a very dark green, or may approach a dark purple. The skin may be thin or thick. The flesh is a yellowish-green in color and when ready to eat is about the consistency of butter.

Care must be used in selecting an avocado for the table. If you intend to eat it soon after buying, make sure it is really ripe. When ready to eat, the flesh will yield to a soft pressure of the fingertips.

The avocado may be used at any meal of the day and combines well with any kind of food. It may be sliced, or may be cut in two lengthwise, with a half being served to each person. No dressing is needed, although a little salt may be used if desired. The fruit should be soft enough to be eaten with a spoon.

I recommend the avocado and believe you will enjoy the delicious flavor of this fruit which contains the largest amount of nourishment to be found in fruit of any kind.

Dr Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the mechanics of health in plain, easily understandable language.

TWO INJURED WHILE MOVING STEAM ENGINE

Moving a big steam engine from Lamming's sawmill across the river to drive the gravel crusher caused two bad accidents Monday.

The engine had to be placed on a truck to move and Gordon Lamming was jacking it up when the jack slipped. The whole jack bounced off the ground, smashing the handle against Lamming's face. He was rushed to the local hospital, where concussion is feared.

After considerable difficulty, the engine was loaded, ferried across the river, and the men went to work setting it in place. A. Wilson, the gravel contractor, was helping when a bar slid down and fractured his left collarbone. He is also in hospital, but expects to be out soon. The others of the crew got the engine set and running, and it worked full blast all afternoon, crushing gravel.

First local boy to be accepted into the army, Garneth Stroh left last week for Calgary and from there for Halifax. He has enlisted in the wireless division. In business in Rocky with Leslie Becker, Mr. Stroh disposed of his interest in the Modern Electric shop to his partner. Friends gave a smoker for him in the Legion hall and presented him with a pen and pencil set.

Exchange Regulations on Inter-Company Accounts Simplified at Meeting

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—Exchange regulations governing inter-company accounts of Canadian firms with foreign, parent companies were simplified Wednesday at a meeting of the commercial section of the foreign exchange control board with several big business representatives.

The meeting, held to eliminate unnecessary "red tape" in exchange control, agreed on the principle of allowing inter-company accounts to operate as in the past, subject to the companies accounting to the board for foreign exchange acquired as a result of export to foreign countries.

BALANCE IN BOOKS

This means a branch company in Canada may balance credits and debits between itself and a foreign associate without reference to the board, as long as no funds are transferred. When such transfer is required to maintain a balance, the usual permit must be obtained from the board.

The board also announced companies which have used foreign currency bank accounts in the past in their export and import business will be allowed to continue them, on applying to the board.

The importance of yesterday's meeting and decisions is suggested by the fact more than 4,000 Canadian companies are branches or subsidiaries of United States or British parent companies. Many Canadian firms have subsidiaries in other countries.

WORK OUT NEW PLAN

Special interest was shown in a proposal to change the export-import license to give companies with a large volume of exports or imports a special license permitting them to report foreign shipments and purchases on the old customs forms, B1 and B13, without making out any new forms in addition. Such license-holders would, of course, be required to file monthly returns. The plan is being worked out by experts loaned to the board by the customs division of the revenue department.

HEPBURN WANTS ALIENS USED TO FINISH HIGHWAY

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Premier Hepburn said Wednesday he proposed to the federal government enemy aliens interned in Canada be employed on completion of the trans-Canada highway in Ontario.

The premier said he suggested the province should assume responsibility for care of aliens, employing them on a 125-mile section of the highway between Hearst and Geraldton. This district is not yet completed.

Mr. Hepburn said Ontario would bear the entire cost. He also disclosed he urged the federal government to accept enlistment in the army of 560 prisoners in Ontario reformatories serving short terms for what he described as "misdemeanors or non-criminal offences." He said prisoners who signified their intention to join the army had been medically examined and found fit by provincial medical authorities.

Note Is Not Clue To Missing Plane

HALIFAX, Oct. 12—Believed at first a clue to a missing plane, a pencilled note was described Wednesday by Royal Canadian Air Force officials as coming from another plane that reported safely to its base after a routine flight. The note, believed at first to have fallen from an R.C.A.F. plane unreported since Sept. 14, said: "I must be wrong on my course. We should not be heading out to sea." Officials said it was merely a communication between members of the plane's crew.

Norwegian Crew of Junk Enjoying Life on Land After 113-Day Voyage

QUATSINO, B.C., Oct. 12—The Norwegian crew of the Shanghai junk Tai Ping were "close to home" today among the population of this Scandinavian-settled Vancouver Island harbor.

Capt. John Anderson, his wife and crew of four, were enjoying their first landing since leaving Kobe, Japan, last April 15, on what turned out to be a 113-day voyage across the storm-tossed Pacific.

First request, as the crew set foot on land at this west coast point was from Mrs. Anderson that her mother and small daughter in Shanghai be advised of their safe arrival.

GET GENERAL CLEANUP

Then the six trooped into the home of Mrs. William Becker for showers and a clean-up. Since then Mrs. Becker has kept open house for the Tai Ping's wanderers.

Later the crew headed for blackberry patches and proceeded to enjoy their first fresh fruit in months.

With the exception of Berger Larsen, whose beard has not yet materialized, Capt. Anderson and the other members of the crew sported a fine crop of whiskers they intend to keep until arrival at San Francisco—when, they do not know—or forfeit $50 each to Mrs. Anderson.

Their first intimation of approaching land after the lengthy sea voyage was increasing beds of kelp off the Queen Charlotte Islands at 4 a.m., Sept. 30.

BREAK FOR PETS

A little more than an hour later Capt. Anderson gave the "land ho" shout to bring the full crew on deck. They broke out "extra rations" to their fare, which had consisted for four weeks of a bowl of rice a day, boiled in salt water.

And the lives of a dog and a cat aboard were lengthened. They had been salted for "supplementary rations" later that day as the junk's supplies were near the end.

The junk has been repaired—tiller and a crossarm—and Capt. Anderson is awaiting a tow to Seattle.

Meanwhile they enjoy their stay in Quatsino, settled largely by Norwegians and Swedes.

John Buchan Books Are Likely To Be Banned In Germany

ESSEN, Germany, Oct. 12—A German ban on the books of the Governor General to Canada and Edgar Wallace is foreshadowed in the Essener Zeitung, General Goering's newspaper.

"Even in Edgar Wallace books and in those of John Buchan (Lord Tweedsmuir) British propaganda is inserted in such a subtle way that it poisons the minds of Germans," the newspaper said.

"An end must be put to British anti-German propaganda by means of apparently harmless novels."

WORKING WIVES

By Louise Holmes

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MARIAN HARKNESS, a working wife.

DAN HARKNESS, her husband.

DOLLY HARKNESS, Dan's widowed sister-in-law.

SALLY BLAKE, an ambitious young stenographer.

Yesterday: Dolly arrives as Marian prepares to leave for the hospital. Marian explains everything, her hopes of regaining Dan's love, her efforts to repair the wreckage of their marriage. Then she asks Dolly to call the doctor. "It's going to happen very soon."

CHAPTER XXX

IT was after midnight. The hospital was quiet. The corridors were dark except for shaded lamps on the nurses' desks. Now and then a red light flashed over a door, reflecting itself in the shining floor. In a brightly lighted room, Marion was being lifted to a rubber-tired cart. She was pale, her eye black with suffering. She caught Dolly's hand.

"You'll go with me?"

Dolly raised her eyes to the still genial face of Dr. Moss. "May I?"

He nodded.

Marian said, "I'm going to be brave, Dolly. But if I should forget myself, if I should beg for Dan, don't weaken, don't send for him. I've explained how I feel about Dan. I want to be ready for him. Promise me."

"I promise."

"And—if anything should happen—" She bit a quivering lip.

"Yes, dear."

"Tell him that I was brave. Tell him that I was happy to have his baby. Try to make him understand how much I love him—how much I have always loved him."

"You'll tell him yourself, darling." Dolly held her hand as the cart was trundled down the quiet hall. She stood by staunchly. When Marian cried out, "Dan—Dan—" she soothed her gently. After that there was blessed oblivion for Marian.

The sun was shinging a rectangular patch on the carpet when she awoke. She stirred and Dolly went to the bed. She kissed Marian's white cheek.

"It's all over, darling," she said.

"A girl?"

"Yes. Dr. Moss says that she is the most beautiful little girl."

"A beautiful little girl. Her name is Glad—Glad Harkness." Marian's long lashes fell, she was asleep. She looked very young and small in the high white bed.

They took Glad home after two weeks. Randy and Dolly and a strangely shaken Marian took her home. Randy had been doubtful about the small apartment. He had suggested larger quarters and nurses, a fleet of them, he said. Marian had refused.

"No," she had said. "Glad's father is supporting her."

Trying weeks followed. Marian's strength was slow in returning; the baby's food formula had to be changed and changed again. The summer heat came early, long scorching days, humid night. Steadfastly, Marian cared for the baby, letting the housework slide, resting when the baby slept.

Her love for the child was something like worship; she watched her development with a half fearful awe. To Marian, the tiny infant was a miracle, a God-given miracle.

Randy and Dolly came every day. They quietly installed comforts, an electric refrigerator which the apartment did not afford, fans, linen sheets, which were cooler than muslin. Marian grew thin, blue shadows made her eyes enormous, her hands were rough from daily laundry work.

Dolly expostulated, she begged, she even became angry. Randy talked earnestly to Marian. They were friends. What were friends for, anyway? He'd send a maid, two maids — better still, he'd find an apartment near the lake.

Marian stood firm. Wearily she reiterated the old theme. "Dan says to stick it out. Dan says if you accomplished a thing yourself, you have pride—"

"But Dan would send you more money if he knew," Randy argued. "You're losing weight — you'll be sick."

"But Glad is gaining — she's all right."

"She'd gain faster—"

"Dr. Moss says she is perfect." Marian laid a beseeching hand on his arm. "I'd crawl on my knees to ask for help if the baby needed it. But she doesn't. Dan and I are providing for her. Please let me do this. Please let me do it the hard way."

They let her alone after that, standing by, ready. July was a nightmare of burning heat and parched winds. Toward the end of July, Glad developed a heat rash, she fretted and had a little fever. Marian's hollow eyes became frenzied pools. That was when Randy and Dolly stepped in.

Dazed and terrified, Marian did not argue. Someone packed her things. Someone helped her dress. She and the baby were bundled, unprotesting, into a closed car which was cooled by dry ice. Marian lay against the cushions, a nurse watched over Glad's basket.

Dolly had said crossly, "I guess you can pay a visit to your best friend. I guess Dan wouldn't mind that."

They drove for hours, finally stopping at a white cottage in the cool darkness of deep woods. Lake Michigan danced and sparkled beyond the trees. A fresh little breeze rustled the leaves. Marian stumbled as she stepped from the car and Randy carried her to a cool green and white bedroom.

Doing so, he muttered, "And we didn't get you here a moment too soon, young lady. In fact, hardly soon enough."

Marian did not know when the nurse undressed her and put an ice pack on her head.

The August days were like a blissful dream. Marian lay in her bed, sleeping, rousing to look with contented eyes at the baby who, under the able ministrations of the nurse, lost her rash and fever immediately. After a few days, Marian moved to the wide porch swing, there to idly hope and plan and dream.

The weeks hurried by and she awoke each morning to new strength. She could feel energy and vitality humming through her veins. She swam and rested, she tanned a beautiful brown, rich color dyed her cheeks and lips. Often Dolly and Randy would be gone for days at a time. Marian scarcely noticed their going or coming.

The baby was a rollicking, pink and white bit of gladness.

With the coming of September, Marian realized the time had come to think about the long trip to Portland. Marian wanted to go, she was well and strong, the baby was old enough to travel. Instinctively, she shrank from going. It meant so much, that journey to Portland, so very much. Dan't letters had not shown one sign of interest, had given her not one shred of hope.

On Sept. 10, Randy's chauffeur took them back to the apartment. Dolly had made it ready. There was food in the refrigerator. The rooms had been cleaned and aired.

Marian set a day for her leaving and she worked toward it feverishly. A few new clothes for Glad, who had outgrown everything, a few conveniences for travel. She had her own old dresses changed a bit and cleaned. She advertised her furniture and spent the last week getting rid of it.

On the last night, with nothing left but a bed and one chair, these to be called for on the morrow, Marian sat in the bare emptiness, the baby in her arms.

"We're going to see your daddy Glad," she said softly.

The baby crowed and kicked and threw her little arms about. She had a straight, strong back and straight, strong legs. Marian often likened her to a rose bud—if a rose bud could have shining blue eyes. Her hair was definitely reddish and Marian loved it. The ends duck tailed engagingly, it was thick and silken. She laughed and hugged the small body.

"We'll see your daddy in a few days," she repeated. "Oh, Glad, will he want us? You're to be my offering, my precious gift for him."

Randy and Dolly took them to the train. Lifting the baby from Marian's arms, Randy said, "You've got something here, Marian."

She laughed. "Naturally I think so." To herself she said, "I have done one perfect thing. It is enough to make up for all the things I didn't do?"

The eggs of sturgeons are not taken for caviar when the female is ready to spawn, but at an earlier period, when the roe is hard. A large female may yield as much as 15 gallons, or 2,400,000 eggs. Because the sturgeon is such a valuable prize, it is becoming very rare.

Germans To Suffer For Hitler's Orgy Savant Prophesies

An overflow audience gathered at the opening meeting of the season for the Philosophical Society of the University of Alberta Wednesday night to hear Professor Francis Owen, professor of German at the university, analyze the basic concepts which have moulded Hitlerism.

Dr. Owen began by disclaiming any sensational treatment of his subject, and making it clear that he was expressing only his personal views, and not those of the university or the society, although he said he hoped they would agree with him.

QUOTES "MEIN KAMPF"

Quoting extensively from Hitler's "Mein Kampf" and other books by theorists whose ideas had shaped Hitlerism, Dr. Owen analyzed the Nazi creed on the basis of statements made by the leaders of the movement themselves.

Dr. E. H. Moss, society president, was chairman of the meeting, which was held in Room 142 of the Medical building on the university campus.

"The National Socialist concept of the racial state," declared Professor Owen, "is founded not on scientific fact but on the fanatical acceptance of the doctrine that the racial state expressed an immutable law of nature, like the law of gravity in the world of physics. Actually this concept is founded on improperly presented data, both consciously and unconsciously misunderstood.

"It has been preached as a new religion, the religion of race, a national religion, a religion which fosters misinterpretation of facts, of the history of the past, which breeds hate, intolerance, arrogance, pogroms, sadism and bloodshed.

RACIAL STATE

"The Hitlerian idea of the racial state can also be briefly compressed into a sentence—one race, one people, one culture, one religion, and one thought.

"Probably the question will be asked, how, if this concept of the racial state has no more solid foundation than an inverted pyramid, has it been possible to impose it upon such a highly educated and intelligent people as the Germans have been for generations?

"In Germany, as in other countries, the great mass of the inhabitants cannot be expected to be able to examine critically the technical details of scientific propositions. It is necessary to trust to the experts.

"YES" MEN

"Now, if those experts who believe that truth is universal and international, and that the truth will set them free, are driven into exile, sent to concentration camps, or silenced by the threat of starvation, and if plenty of so-called experts can be found to act as 'yes' men to avid and unscrupulous politicians (and they can be found in every country in the world), and if again the inhabitants of a country can be subjected to a continual flood of propaganda through books, through the press, and especially through the spoken word, what will the probable result be?

"Undoubtedly, in the main, unquestioning acceptance, especially if it is dangerous to question the dogma and cast suspicion upon its reliability. The revival of the inquisition in the interests of the doctrine of racial intolerance!

"Perhaps some of you think I am exaggerating. Hitler claims to be an expert in the art of propaganda. This is what he says, in his own words:

"'The more modest propaganda's scientific ballast is, and the more it exclusively considers the feelings of the masses, the more striking will be its success. This, however, is the best proof whether a particular piece of propaganda is right or wrong, and not the successful satisfaction of a few scholars or aesthetic languishing monkeys'.

"The masses can easily be both physically and spiritually terrorized. Make the proper impression upon their feelings, not upon their intellects. Again Hitler's own words:

LOVE THE RULER

"The masses love the ruler rather than the suppliant, and inwardly they are far more satisfied by a doctrine which tolerates no rival than by the grant of liberal freedom; they often feel at a loss what to do with it, and even easily feel themselves deserted. They neither realize the impudence with which they are spiritually terrorized, nor the outrageous curtailment of their human liberties, for in no way does the delusion of this doctrine dawn on them. Thus they only see the inconsiderate force, the brutality and the aim of its manifestations to which they finally submit."

Professor Owen's comment on this Hitlerian outburst was that "The ghost of Machiavelli must turn green with envy."

Continuing, Professor Owen declared: "An ignorant fanatic, a mystic, a bubble about to burst, a genius in the art of ungentle persuasion, diatribe and hysterical soap-box oratory, seizes the reins of power in a period of discontent, disillusionment and depression, and maintains that power by promises impossible of execution, sadistic methods of physical and mental terrorization and reviles a sceptical world which refuses to proclaim him Messiah of a racially regenerated humanity. What a mockery of the elemental principles of human liberty."

Professor Owen made it clear he was not drawing up an indictment against the entire German people, but only against its political leaders who had imposed their will upon the nation. He drew a distinction between the German government and the German people.

"Hitler openly advocates the law of force, the doctrine that might is right," Professor Owen declared.

SYMPATHY DUE

"Such being the case, he must be classed with all the other criminals, gangsters and public enemies who would hold up society at the point of a sawed-off shot-gun. Sympathy is surely due the millions of decent Germans, who either dissent from this villainous doctrine in exile or in concentration camps, or who have been cowed or cajoled into a (for the present) docile acceptance," he continued.

"I repeat the theme which has been emphasized so often in the last month by responsible men in Britain and elsewhere: We are at war with Hitler, not with the German people.

"However we may differ in our views on political, social and economic questions, we can surely agree, if my interpretation of Hitlerism is correct, and it is based on Hitler's own words, that there can be no possibility of lasting social and economic reform, no possibility of international peace, if the basic principle of action is to be that of inanimate force and the law of the jungle.

"If the human race is to survive, if it deserves to survive, there must be an ideal of humanity, and it must be a humanitarian ideal. There is no place in such an ideal for the ethics of gangsterdom.

"If you admit this, then with a slight change the words of a certain ancient Roman can be taken as a motto in the struggle which is before us:

"'Hitleria delenda est!' Hitlerism must be destroyed!" Professor Owen concluded.

AIR TRAINING FINANCE PLAN IS DISCUSSED

Governments Are Talking Over Arrangements For Empire Scheme

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—Financial arrangements for the new Empire air training scheme which will centre in Canada are under discussion between the four governments concerned. These are the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.

Whatever the ultimate division of cost among the governments, the scheme is certain to involve expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars in Canada in salaries, wages, land purchase and lease, buildings, aircraft manufacture and clothing.

COSTS TO BE DIVIDED

It is expected student airmen coming to Canada from the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand for intermediate and advanced training will remain on payrolls of their respective governments.

Cost of training and facilities for training, however, probably will be divided among the governments, either on the basis of the number of men trained or an arbitrary basis such as one third for the United Kingdom, one third for Canada and the other third between Australia and New Zealand.

While most of the men trained probably will serve in the British Royal Air Force, Canada will derive indirect economic and other benefits from the scheme. The influence of the scheme on Canadian aviation and Canadian industry will probably endure long after the war ends.

CERTAIN TO EXPAND

For one thing the Canadian aircraft manufacturing industry is certain to expand to an even greater degree than would be the case under ordinary wartime demand.

Hundreds of aircraft will be required for training purposes. The presence in Canada of large training schools will offer an excellent opportunity for testing new machines and new types of aircraft.

Even if amendments to the United State neutrality law make it possible for Canada and other governments of the empire to purchase aircraft in United States, convenience will probably lead additional United States aircraft concerns to open branch factories in Canada. Some Canadian factories are already producing American type aircraft.

WILL HELP AFTER WAR

Wartime development of the aircraft industry in Canada may well place the dominion in a position to enter world markets for aircraft on a large scale after the hostilities.

The Royal Canadian Air Force maintains large training centres at Camp Borden and Trenton, Ontario. Large as they are from the point of view of Canadian requirements, they will be wholly inadequate to house and train the number of men expected under the empire scheme.

Additional schools will be needed as well as additional living and working quarters both at Camp Borden and Trenton. Camp Borden is an old establishment, dating from the last war. It is a huge tract of sandy land, near Barrie, Ont. So far as acreage is concerned it is ideal either as an air training centre or military training centre but more buildings will be needed if it is to house any considerable additional number of men.

PRAIRIES FAVORED

It is expected the training scheme will extend all across Canada. The R.C.A.F. is already using facilities of the flying clubs for preliminary pilot training.

Owing to the need of highly skilled instructors in the intermediate and advanced training periods, it is unlikely the flying clubs which, individually can accommodate only a few men, will be utilized beyond the preliminary stage.

But new training centres, each capable of accommodating hundreds of student pilots, may be opened. One such will likely locate on the prairies where ground and weather conditions are suited for flying training. Trans-Canada Airlines maintains a flying school at Winnipeg which may fit into the scheme.

Calgary Facilities Emphasized By Mayor

CALGARY, Oct. 12. — Calgary's ideal facilities for training airmen will be emphasized in a letter from Mayor Andrew Davison of Calgary to Hon. Norman Rogers, federal minister of national defence, Mayor Davison said Wednesday.

He said he hoped Calgary will be selected as one of the centres where airmen will receive instructions under the new empire air training scheme, announced yesterday.

Besides ideal weather all year round, Calgary's facilities include Currie barracks and a large flying field.

Pay Adjustments Being Considered

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—Adjustments in the pay rates for officers and men serving in the air and naval services are under consideration by officials of the national defence department.

French "Land Battleships" In Action

These remarkable photographs, made in co-operation with French military authorities on the eve of war and just released, show a heavy French tank in action in northern France. Reports from that section of Germany invaded by French forces state these huge land battleships are proving invaluable to the French forces. Their heavy armor is a match for all but the heavier anti-tank guns, and their heavy batteries are sure death for machine-gun nests in their path. These tanks are reported to carry field guns and be able to mow down all opposition in their path.

Statistics Show Reich Obtains Reduced Supplies From Rumania Oil Fields

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PLOESTI, Rumania, Oct. 12.—Germany is still able to obtain vitally needed Rumanian oil, but production, sales and shipment statistics compiled here, in the centre of the Rumanian oil field, indicate the amounts supplied her have been reduced.

Production has continued normal in this area with no incidents to halt the flow of about 500,000 tons monthly.

COMPANIES WANT CASH

But oil company officials emphasized that Germany's problem of obtaining oil and gasoline for her planes and mechanized army units was not a question of Rumanian production but rather one of payment and transportation.

Rumanian oil companies are demanding cash and Germany is still paying cash, according to a survey of interested foreign sources, although some barter deals have been made.

With the normal Black Sea-Hamburg route closed to German trade by the British Navy, Germany now is depending on river and rail transportation which is inadequate under expanded war requirements.

TRANS-SHIPS BARGES

Shipments of oil by way of the Danube river have amounted to 90,000 tons since the outbreak of the war, with half of that quantity destined for Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Germany was reported here to be trans-shipping barges from the Rhine to the Danube in an effort to increase shipments.

Efforts to speed up transportation are prompted by the fact the Danube normally freezes in late November, halting navigation.

India Government To Call Recruits

NEW DELHI, Oct. 12.—The Indian government announced Wednesday it would submit to parliament a bill for recruiting volunteers for India's regular army. The force will be limited at first to 25,000 men who will be mobilized when the government considers it necessary. Members of all castes may apply for service.

Gunner Killed

LONDON, Oct. 11.—An accident at a national munitions factory today in which one army gunner was killed and six others were injured, was announced by the ministry of information.

Former Edmonton Man Dies Tuesday

CALGARY, Oct. 12—Donald Moore Malin, manager of Model Dairies here, and former resident of Winnipeg, Vancouver, Edmonton and Ponoka district, Alta., died here Tuesday night. A native of England, Malin formerly was a department supervisor for the United Farmers of Alberta, provincial government for six years prior to 1930. Richard Malin, Salmo, B.C., is a son.

LIEUTENANT OF NAVY RESCUES PAIR OF SHIPS

LONDON, Oct. 12—A naval lieutenant serving in Great Britain's contraband inspection patrol at a "western port" rescued two sinking merchant vessels last Friday and Saturday by towing them to shore, the admiralty disclosed last night.

One ship was deserted and slowly going down when the lieutenant, on an examination steamship, climbed aboard with a party of volunteers. The other vessel, rescued the following day, had been shattered by a mine. Its survivors were picked up and the ship then towed in and beached.

The lieutenant was once a member of Britain's mercantile marine, a business man before the war "but now is back again to sea."

The admiralty did not announce the lieutenant's name nor names of the ships involved.

Russia Is Added To Boycott List At A.F.L. Meeting

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12.—The American Federation of Labor, reinforcing its opposition to totalitarian powers, added Russia to its German-Japanese boycott list Wednesday.

The federation's 59th convention adopted resolutions urging use of armed forces only to repel invaders and warning that United States mediation in Europe might be embarrassing if premature.

After President William Green read excerpts from Adolf Hitler's book, Mein Kampf, the convention voted to extend the A.F.L. boycott to Russian goods and services. Green said Berlin and Moscow now were joined in a pact "to plunder helpless people as they did with Poland."

SUGAR PRICE OF RETAILERS IS APPROVED

Half-Cent Increase Per Pound To Continue, Board Decides

CALGARY, Oct. 12.—Alberta retailers can continue to sell 100 pounds of beet sugar for $7.20, a ½-cent-a-pound increase since the start of the second Great War, the Alberta price spreads board decided here Wednesday.

The board, after hearing protests from sugar beet growers and sugar manufacturers, issued a new order setting the maximum price, as at October 10, at $7.20. The order cancelled one issued in Edmonton October 5, effective October 11, ordering retailers to revert back to the September 1 price level of $6.70 per 100 pounds.

ADVANCE MAINTAINED

Wholesale sugar prices that advanced ½ cent since September 1 also will be maintained at the advanced level.

The new order makes the maximum price for beet sugar the same as cane sugar.

W. D. King, deputy provincial minister of trades and industry and chairman of the board, in a statement, said the board "proposes to make further investigation into the circumstances governing the price of beet sugar."

Included in protests from the beet growers were that the costs of growing beet sugar had increased in recent weeks, that growers had not been given adequate warning before the reduction of ½ cent a pound was ordered, and that a cut in price of Alberta-made sugar would result in a run on present stocks.

GROWERS ATTEND

Present at the meeting were T. George Wood of Raymond, district manager of the Canadian Sugar Refineries, Limited, and five growers from southern Alberta.

Board members returned to Edmonton last night and it was indicated flour and meat prices would be discussed at the next sitting.

Chinese Claiming Japs Are Repulsed In Hunan Province

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12.—Initial success for a Chinese counter-offensive against Japanese forces in Hunan province was reported Wednesday by Chinese dispatches which said the attack was being carried into territory held by Japan for almost a year.

Chinese say they were attacking Japanese forces on the outskirts of Yochow, gateway to Hunan province from the Yangtse river. Yochow is 83 miles north of Changhsa, Hunan capital, from which Japan's columns were thrown back last week.

U.S. May Step In To Help Finland

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Speculation was heard here last night that the United States might make a diplomatic move at Moscow to prevent Russian penetration of Finland.

Two Mounties Are Slain In Past Two Months By Saskatchewan Killers

ESTERHAZY, Sask., Oct. 12.—Within two months violent death has claimed two members of Canada's Royal Canadian Mounted Police as they maintained law and order on the Saskatchewan prairies.

Last to die was 30-year-old Constable Norman Gleadow, native of Regina, victim of hammer blows to the head. He died in a small shack here Wednesday after arresting 24-year-old Ernest Flook of Esterhazy on a charge of robbing a filling station at nearby Bredenbury.

Flook, who fled in the officer's car, shot himself in the head when cornered about 20 miles north of here. He died later.

On Aug. 27, Constable W. E. Rhodeniser, New Brunswick native, was killed during a gun battle in southern Saskatchewan while hunting an Indian, Nelson Sammy, for the shooting to death of three persons at Moose Mountain Indian reserve near Arcola. Sammy awaits trial for murder.

Both constables were accompanied by a dog. Rhodeniser guided Tel, noted police dog, when the animal led him to Sammy's hideout. The dog refused to leave Rhodeniser's body when bullets in the ensuing battle laid the officer low.

Constable Gleadow's pet dog was in his automobile when young Flook fled in the machine. A little while later the animal returned to the side of his dying master.

The stunts of chin balancing heavy objects done by Milo Brinn never have been equaled. Brinn is capable of balancing a cannon, with carriage and all, on his chin.

Plans To Protect Medical Practices Are Now Underway

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 12—Plans to protect the practices and positions of doctors who enlist in the Canadian army are under way, Dr. A. D. Kelly, of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Medical association, told a district O.M.A. meeting last night.

Dr. Kelly said the association already has approached the various governments with the plea that doctors who leave appointive positions be guaranteed those positions when they return.

A Nation Offers Prayers

Leading the observance of a day of national prayer, the King and Queen attended a morning service in St. Paul's cathedral, and in this photo cabled from London, Queen Elizabeth is shown shaking hands with the Lord Mayor, Sir Frank Bowater. His Majesty, on the right, carries a gas mask. The photograph was taken as Their Majesties were received at the west door of the cathedral by the Dean, Very Rev. Walter R. Matthews, the Lord Mayor of London and the Lady Mayoress. During the services, Dean Matthews prayed for the British fighting forces, for the ill and wounded of both sides, and Divine intervention to hasten peace.

Chiang's Son

Looking as dapper as an American collegian, Chiang Wei-Kuo, son of China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, is pictured as he arrived in New York from Holland.

Gets Soviet Call

Summoned to Moscow to negotiate a "non-aggression" pact with Russia, Foreign Minister William Munters, of Latvia, joins the list of Baltic diplomats whose worries increase as their mighty neighbor looks in their direction.

False Alarm :-: Letting the Cats Out of the Bags

Above: Their whistles shrilling, these British air raid wardens fan out from their sandbagged station to chase civilians into shelters as the air raid sirens shrieked. "All clear" sounded in 10 minutes when the alarm proved false.

Right: Making sure of the safety of their 18 lives, these two London cats emerge from their sandbag shelter to be photographed, but are ready to retreat at the first air raid alarm.

Sinister 'Jewelry'

With non-combatants among the first to fall in modern war, civilians are now wearing identification tags such as were used by soldiers in the trenches during the first World War. Discs engraved with name, address and telephone number, like the one above, are worn as bracelets by British civilians and Air Raid Precautions workers.

King and the Colonel

With his army on a war footing to repel any possible invasion, King Leopold of Belgium is shown inspecting a group of his officers after he had presented new flags to reformed regiments in Brussels. Second from left is the King's brother, Prince Charles, who has just been promoted to a coloneicy in a cavalry regiment.

Nazi Raider Is Reported at Large

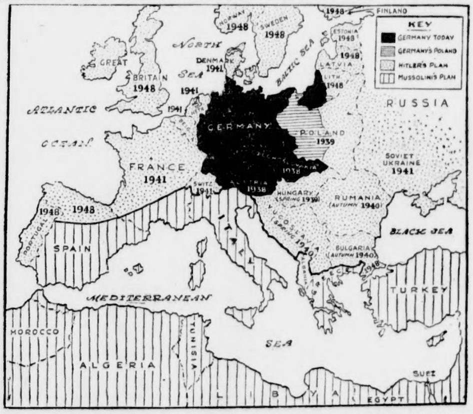
The German pocket battleship, Admiral Scheer, above, is at large as a sea raider against the British, according to stories told by survivors of the British steamer Clement, sunk in the South Atlantic. Those on the Clement, when it was sunk Oct. 1, 27 miles off the Brazilian coast, identified the 10,000-ton battleship as their attacker, according to the Agencia Meridional.

How Duce, Hitler Planned to Divide World



Here is how Hitler and Mussolini originally planned to share the world, according to reports issued by the Russian Comintern last year when Germany and the Soviet were still enemies. Dates indicate when each country was to be grabbed. Austria and Czecho-Slovakia were seized by 1938, as scheduled, but Hungary remains independent. Hitler got less than half of Poland as a result of his alliance with Russia. The Mediterranean was to become an Italian lake and Mussolini started by seizing Albania.

Coast Mine-Sweeping

The crew of a British minesweeper is shown at work, somewhere off the English coast, at the highly dangerous job of seeking and rendering harmless any enemy mines that might have been planted to destroy British shipping. The gadget the men are swinging outboard is a paravane, a device that cuts the anchor lines of mines, permitting them to bob to the surface, where they can be destroyed by gunfire. Not unlike a torpedo, the paravane is sent off cruising in dangerous waters under control of the sweeper. When it cuts a mine loose a flag pops up on the paravane. Staff of the flag is in the lowered position here.

Skeleton of Warsaw

Stark against the sky, the gutted shells of wrecked houses stand as mute testimony to the punishment Warsaw suffered under German bombardment. Two German soldiers, only visible signs of life, patrol the debris-strewn street. Photo passed by German censor.

Substitute

Poland's erstwhile "strong man" Joseph Beck, went into eclipse following his flight to Rumania, and the announcement of a new "refugee" government, to function for the Polish Embassy in Paris. Beck will be succeeded as foreign minister by Senator August Zaleski, above.

Canada's Gift To The World Is W. I., Mrs. Watt States

CANADA'S great gift to the world is the Women's Institute movement, Mrs. Alfred Watt told delegates to the F.W.I.C. and A.W.I. Wednesday evening when she addressed them following dinner in the Macdonald hotel. "It will always be a great bliss to me to remember that the Women's Institute came from Canada," she said, "and now we are fortunate indeed in having the W.I. with us for we can use it as a war service, and prepare to meet any need the government may demand of us."

His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta and Mrs. Bowen and the Premier of Alberta and Mrs. Aberhart were guests at the banquet. Alderman Daniel Knott represented the city.

Mrs. Watt urged delegates to build up their own organization at this time, and use it as a medium of information, co-operation, education and greatest of all home and community building. "We do not have to join any other organization," she said, "but hold ourselves in readiness for needs which might arise."

IN NEW ZEALAND

Having visited institutes in every part of the world, Mrs. Watt had a story to tell of the great work which country women are doing. She said it would be well to follow the example of New Zealand, where far from the farmer being the "hick man" he is the aristocrat. There is a marvellous co-operation between races there and in Australia, and the W.I. has bridged all gulfs.

Mrs. Watt paid tribute to the small bodies of pioneer women, working across vast countries, whose courage, fortitude and strength can only bring admiration. She mentioned the work in Ceylon, carried on by dark skilled women, in Palestine, where Jewish women are doing wonderful agricultural work, in Germany and in the Baltic countries, where a people so eager to work out their own destiny are about to be crushed again.

Mrs. William Stewart, president of the A.W.I., whose experiences on the ill-fated Athenia are as exciting a story as could be told, also addressed the dinner meeting, and W.I. delegates had the privilege of hearing personally from their president the incidents which marked for her and Mr. Stewart their rescue by the City of Flint and their return to Peace River.

Mrs. M. L. Thompson, Coaldale, vice-president of the A.W.I., presided at dinner. Soloist was Mrs. James Walter, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. A. Buchanan.

HEAD TABLE

Guests at the head table were His Honor Captain John Campbell Bowen and Mrs. Bowen, Hon. William Aberhart and Mrs. Aberhart, Mrs. Alfred Watt of London, England, Alderman and Mrs. Daniel Knott, Mrs. H. McGregor, Penticton.

Mrs. William Stewart, Peace River; Miss M. Childerhose, Manitoba; Mrs. H. H. Pitts, Nelson, B.C.; Mrs. R. E. Wood, Stony Plain; Mrs. G. L. Rose, Manitoba; Mrs. J. B. Rogers, Penticton.

Mrs. Guy Humphrey, New Brunswick; Mrs. Allison MacMillan, P.E.I.; Mrs. H. A. Dunham, New Brunswick; Mrs. Freeman Lank, Nova Scotia; Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu.

Radium Fund Of $2,000 Given University Hospital By A.W.I.

CLIMAXING a period in which representatives from every province in Canada gave reports on Institute work in their branches, the Women's Institute of Alberta showed in a very tangible way their work during the past two years and presented a cheque for $2,000 to Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, at joint sessions of the A.W.I. and the F.W.I.C. Wednesday afternoon. The culmination of a united effort to the branches, the money will be given to the University hospital to buy radium for cancer patients.

In making the presentation to Dr. Cross, Mrs. William Stewart, president of the A.W.I., stated that the radium treatment would be free to all sufferers and urged that the University hospital make it go as far as possible in the name of the A.W.I.

SURPRISE

The fund was a complete surprise to Dr. Cross, who had not heard a word about it until he received a letter requesting him to be present at the meeting, and will go far, he said, in combatting the dread disease of cancer. He praised the W.I. for their interest and concern in such a vital matter and urged them to use a cancer commission just set up to find the correct and up-to-date treatment and cures for cancer. Mr. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the board of the University hospital and Thomas Cox, treasurer, were also present and spoke.

HOME BUILDING

"Our chief endeavor at this time should be to keep a happy home and community, for a discontented one is only a centre for 'isms'," Mrs. H. McGregor, president of the F.W.I.C. stated in giving her report during the afternoon. "In a crisis as this, the Red Cross organization, international in character and world renowned will be given prominence and much of our work will go through this channel, but we must not lose sight of our parent organization.

"Through our national and international relations, our organization possesses an avenue to better world understanding," she said.

Pan-Pacific friendship, as promoted through the women's association was the subject of a most interesting address by Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey Price on Wednesday afternoon. "Women weave an understanding from the things they hold in common, forgetting their differences," she said, "and women have a greater glory for theirs is the way of the common touch. In the Sino-Japanese conflict there is no enmity between the mothers and children," Mrs. Price stated.

Quebec Delegate Urges Institutes To Assist New Canadians

URGING that the Women's Institutes play a part in keeping before new Canadians what they must know before taking out naturalization papers, Mrs. Brian Ashworth of Quebec, chairman of the Canadianization, Immigration and National Events committee of the F.W.I.C., outlined what the organization was doing to help new Canadians in presenting her report at sessions Wednesday morning of the F.W.I.C. In the discussion which followed delegates agreed to urge the federal government to make the ceremony at which new Canadians take out papers, more impressive.

In her report on legislation, Mrs. Guy Humphrey stated that an appeal should be made to automobile associations for further efforts in preventing deaths by automobiles. There should be a uniformity of motor laws, throughout the provinces. It was also urged that women be careful in signing any legal documents.

Mrs. V. S. McLachlan of Victoria described a visit to the Sudeten colony in the Peace River country, where a Women's Institute will be founded in the spring. It will be the 25th in that district.

FARM PRODUCTION IS VITAL FACTOR

Stress was laid on the vital importance of production from farms during the war period by Mrs. C. H. Stout of Calgary on Thursday morning when she presented her report on agriculture and Canadian industries at sessions of the A. W. I. She mentioned the progress in agriculture during the past years and the contributions which the institutes here have tried to make to the field of agriculture.

It is the duty of each province to devise a workable, permanent and immediate plan of immigration, Mrs. R. Rothwell stated in presenting a report of Canadianization and Immigration. "It is important to strengthen the British percentage of the Canadian population," she said, "and the scheme would not necessarily include only land settlement but harbor facilities, land communications and the development of fisheries." Mrs. Brian Ashworth, F.W.I.C. convener, led the discussion which followed.

Other reports by district directors were given by Mrs. W. R. Roberts, Sexsmith, Mrs. E. E. Morton, Vegreville, Mrs. O. G. Sibbald, Munson, Mrs. J. A. McQuarrie, Barons. Publicity conveners' reports were presented by Mrs. H. J. Montgomery and Mrs. C. P. Norton.

Fresh-Faced Look Is Asset To Every Girl

By ALICIA HART

The fresh-faced look—cheeks that shine like polished apples, eyes shining through a natural-looking fringe of lashes, a wholesome splash of freckles on the nose, and hair that falls in naturally soft waves—has unfailing appeal.

If you are sacrificing the fresh-faced look for quantities of makeup and a coiffure as forbidding as a marble statue, you ought to ask yourself now and then whether the sacrifice really is all to the good. It might be a good idea to let your hair fall naturally around your face, put on a minimum of makeup and then see what you think of yourself.

Consider, for example, Mary Martin, the Weatherford, Texas, girl, who was the toast of the theatre last winter and now is successful in radio and motion pictures. Miss Martin certainly owes much of her success to the fresh-faced look.

According to the little actress' own confession, it has taken courage to resist the temptation which besets every rising star, to let experts redesign her face and do a coiffure that represents a masterpiece of the hairdressing art. But Miss Martin has stuck to her guns. She's as fresh-faced as she was when she arrived in New York more than a year ago.

EASE UP ON THE MAKEUP

"I think it's a mistake for any woman to let anyone sell her the idea of makeup that seals the face in mask-like fashion. I believe in foundation preparations, of course, but I think they should be thin and porous, not tightening and heavy.

"Don't try to draw on new lips with a lipstick. The work should be done by an expert, if done at all; and even then only for evening. The difference between lip tissue and skin, when you go over the boundaries of your mouth, is too obvious to deceive any eye. Follow your natural lipline, and keep the color smooth and clear," Miss Martin continues.

"Use mascara and eyeshadow sparingly. Unless your lashes and brows are just plain mousey, you really don't need eye makeup for daytime. If you want a rosycheeked effect, don't powder your cheeks at all. Let them shine."

City Wedding Claims Wide Interest

CLAIMING interest in Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg, is the wedding solemnized at the evening hour of nine o'clock on Saturday, when Jeanne Margaret Campbell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, of Winnipeg, became the bride of Mr. Merton Walter Wales, of Edmonton, son of Mrs. M. W. Wales and the late Mr. Wales, of Calgary, formerly of Winnipeg.

Rev. Ross K. Cameron officiated at the ceremony in First Presbyterian church.

The bride wore an attractive teal blue woolen frock, with flared skirt and quilted bodice. Her veiled pillbox hat, and shoes were in matching tone and she also wore two red fox furs, the gift of the bridegroom. Her corsage was of Ophelia roses.

Mrs. Harry Winny, matron of honor, chose a two-toned blue wool frock, with black fur felt hat, and black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of yellow tea roses.

Mr. Winny supported the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Wales will be in Edmonton for the coming fortnight, prior to leaving for Winnipeg, where they will make their home.

Lloydminster Church Is Setting For Pretty Ceremony

LLOYDMINSTER.—A quiet wedding took place at the manse of Knox Presbyterian church in Lloydminster recently, when Mildred Anne Carley, eldest daughter of Mr. Frank Carley and the late Mrs. Carley, became the bride of Mr. John Byron Abraham, of Unity, Saskatchewan.

The bride wore an attractive gown in fuschia sheer and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Frances Carley was her sister's bridesmaid, and wore a wisteria crepe frock. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. D. Abraham.

What To Do

I am inexperienced regarding the purchase of silver and, inasmuch as I cannot afford to buy all of my flat silver at one time, I want your advice regarding pattern and what pieces I should buy now.

A BRIDE-TO-BE.

Answer—No one today need buy silver blindly because of inexperience. If you have no definite new pattern in mind, then select one that harmonizes with your other table appointments, remembering that simplicity is always a desirable feature. Most of the patterns today follow simple lines with little or no ornamentation. For the first purchase consider the pieces that will be required to satisfy your daily needs and for the ordinary occasions when you entertain. Medium-sized dinner forks and knives; twice as many teaspoons and several serving spoons are needed for regular table service. And salad forks, butter knives, possibly a gravy ladle, pie server and other extra pieces may be added at birthday and anniversary occasions until you build up an adequate silver supply. Today silver is bought in units of four, eight or twelve pieces in place of the old half-dozen custom.

According To Culbertson

Yesterday, I pointed out that many players, proceeding on the theory that "an ace is an ace," and horrified at the thought of losing one of these beautiful cards, invariably cash them in at the first opportunity. I stated that, as a habit, this is just as bad as, or worse than hanging on to an ace until it is extracted by brute force. Today's hand illustrates the danger and waste of "hanging on."

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 club | Pass | 1 diamond | Pass |
| 1 no trump | Pass | 3 no trump | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

North's second bid was a shade ambitious. A single raise to two no trump would have been sufficient even though he had two and one-half honor tricks and a five card suit. If his diamond suit had been just a shade stronger, something like A K 10 9 2, his actual choice would have been justified. However, thanks to a timely bit of co-operation from the defense, the game contract was fulfilled.

West opened the spade queen and declarer, more afraid of a heart shift than he was of the spade suit, won with the king in dummy and started his clubs by leading the jack. East, a player who cherishes his aces and hates to part with them, ducked and, of course, the jack held. Now the club seven was led and East had the questionable privilege of winning a trick that contained no honor at all except his own beloved ace. The contract now was home. Declarer won the spade return, ran off three more clubs, then collected the ace and king of diamonds and the heart ace.

Almost all players have learned that they should "cover an honor with an honor." Indeed, they depend too blindly on this not always applicable principle, but unfortunately their training has not been so complete in the matter of killing adverse honors. Technically speaking, when a defender plays an ace on a jack, queen or king, he is not covering, because the word "cover" implies the sacrifice of the covering card. But, as important as it sometimes is to sacrifice an honor by covering, thereby to establish a trick in one's own or partner's hand, it is even more important to kill adverse honors. In this specific case there are many reasons why East should play the club ace on the jack. First and foremost, he should "kill" the jack. Second, by winning the trick, he may preserve a club stopper—entry in his partner's hand which will be valuable in running the spade suit. Third (which is really an extension of the first reason), by capturing the jack, East may promote a card in partner's hand that otherwise would not take a trick. It is this latter fact that works out in the case in point. If East smothers the club jack, South never can take more than three club tricks, but when the jack holds and the ace is put to no better use than capturing low cards, four club tricks inevitably develop. Obviously, in this deal, South cannot get the fulfilling trick in any suit other than clubs.

Minute Make-Ups

With the season's newest costume shades of blue and deep mossy greens, you'll need a very dashing lipstick. Choose a clear, vivid red. A military red, really, with no overtones of either blue or bronze in it. This fresh crisp red, by the way, is marvelously youthful and flattering.

Meatball Soup Liked By All Food Experts

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

When food experts gather to banquet, it's time for home-makers to take notice. The Dietetic Associatioon met recently, and the meat balls in soup, a meal in itself, recipe printed below will give some idea of the Mexican specialties they ate in large quantities.

SOPA DE ALBONDIGAS

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two pounds ground lean beef, 1 whole egg, 3 tablespoons masa or ⅓ cup toasted bread crumbs, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons fat, 2 green chili peppers, 2 medium-sized ripe tomatoes, 1 large onion, 2 tablespoons minced yerba buena (mint leaves), 1 tablespoon minced cilantro (coriander).

Blister green chili peppers and tomatoes over open flame or broiler, or better yet, over glowing wood coals. Peel and mince and add minced onion, yerba buena (mint) and cilantro (coriander). Divide this sauce into two portions. Place ground meat in mixing bowl; add salt, black pepper, egg, masa or toasted bread crumbs, and one portion vegetable sauce. Knead well and leave standing while preparing broth. Heat the fat in soup kettle and add the remaining portion of the sauce; simmer for five minutes. Pour in two quarts boiling water and season with salt and pepper. Cook briskly for 20 minutes.

Pinch off small pieces of the ground meat mixture; roll into small balls the size of a large marble. Roll within the palms of the hands and drop one at a time into the boiling broth. Allow the albondigas (meat balls) to cook slowly for 20 minutes. Taste for salt and serve as soup.

CHILI RELLENOS

(Serves 4 to 6)

Six large green chili peppers, ½ pound white cheese, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons fat, ⅓ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper.

Blister the chili peppers in broiler, peel and carefully remove the stems and seeds. Tear as little as possible. Stuff peppers with half inch cheese wedges. Roll each chili in flour and dip one by one in well-beaten egg. Fry in deep fat to a light golden color. Drain and lay in warm casserole.

Tomorrow's Menu

LUNCHEON: Chili rellenos, tomato and lettuce salad, macaroons, tea, milk.

Raising A Family

If a child gets hurt, should we: (a) Cry over him and say it is awful? (b) Blame the object that trips him? (c) Tell him he is awkward and a great trial? (d) Be quiet, get to work with first aid and act normally?

O R Barton

"D" is the answer, of course. The less fuss we make about accidents the better, because our own nervousness is contagious, and the hurt child watches us sharply. The more evenly we take his mishaps, the better he will stand his bumps.

It is so natural and normal to kiss the little hand or foot and say, "There, there, darling, don't cry. It is a shame and mother feels awfully."

It's also so natural, then, to hand out extra cookies, tell everybody that Junior cut himself on that awful knife, and even call up daddy and the relations to broadcast the news; to promise Junior some candy and treat him generally as though he were a much-to-be-pitied hero.

A bit of comfort and dramatization is certainly allowed. Children and mothers are not machines. They have hearts and understand one another. Yet, the effects of over-sympathy are known to be far-reaching.

Emotion added to hurt makes almost anything hurt more. But, worse still, it instills the habit of expecting someone to grieve with the little victim, and for him, when things go wrong. Self-pity is the next step, and once this is set as part of personality, the fat's in the fire, indeed.

There is no maturity in self-pity. There are thousands of people who never grew up, really. Couldn't stand a small hurt; couldn't stand a little trouble. So later, they couldn't stand big hurt or big troubles and became adult children because nobody continued to feel sorry for them.

ALIBI HOLDS GERMS OF ANTI-SOCIAL ATTITUDE

Never put the blame on an inanimate object. Don't hit the chair or scold the step. Here again it may not seem to matter too much at the time. But gradually the child reasons that his own carelessness or willfulness is not the cause of his hurts. He gets into the habit of using an alibi. From accident and the like, this habit spreads to any kind of trouble. He blames anyone but himself. Then some day he may turn anti-social, and really think the world is to blame for all his discomforts.

Do not say he is awkward or a trial to you. That creates nervous tension and does no good. Show him how to be careful. But when accidents happen, as they will, use good judgment, first aid and, when necessary, call the doctor without any outward show of fear.

Make Your Own Miniature Greenhouse

What a Lovely Terrarium!

Have a delightful glass garden on your window ledge this winter. Any fair-sized glass container with a lid will make an interesting terrarium.

The exquisite pink-flowering begonia grows well with ivory-striped pandanus and asparagus fern, making the graceful arrangement shown in our picture.

What supports this luxuriant growth? The diagram shows how to provide drainage with 1 or 2 inches of pebbles, mixed with charcoal. Soil is sandy garden loam, not too rich. You may cover the space between plants with peat-moss.

These plants like moisture in the air but not too much about the roots. If the temperature drops at night, cover your terrarium with a cloth.

A large bottle is also fun to work with—insert small plants with wire forceps.

Our 32-page booklet tells how to make fascinating terrariums and dish gardens with ferns, foliage, blooming plants including orchids, gardenias. Also describes the making of kitchen herb gardens.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Glass Gardens and Novelty Indoor Gardens" to Home Service, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Dorothy Dix Says:

One of the innumerable advantages of being a man is that he can eat his wedding cake and have it, too. He doesn't have to decide between his career and marriage. He can have them both. After spending years of study and thousands of dollars in fitting himself for the profession he loves and for which he has a talent, he doesn't have to give it up just because he happens to fall in love with some girl.

There is nothing in domestic life that disqualifies him for being a good doctor or lawyer or carpenter. In fact, he is a better one and the more likely to succeed because he has the incentive of a family to work for, and the comforts of a home, and a wife to take care of him. Such, however, is not the happy lot of women. She, poor soul, finds that careers and marriages do not mix any more than oil and water, and so when she falls in love she has to decide between her profession and her man. Furthermore, the problem grows more acute when, as often happens, the woman realizes that if she marries the man she loves she will be exchanging a brilliant future for a drab one filled with cooking and scrubbing and baby-tending.

So what is a poor girl to do when whichever choice she makes she is pretty sure to wish that she had taken the other? If she gives up love for a career, there will be times when the taste of success will be bitter in her mouth and she will think how sweet would be the kisses of a husband upon her lips. There will be times when she will be lonely, or when she will long to feel the head of a baby on her breast and think that the sweetest music in the world is the patter of little feet and childish voices calling for M-o-t-h-e-r.

So what is a poor girl to do, torn between ambition and love? Nobody can tell her. She must decide which rules her, her heart or her head.

DOROTHY DIX.

Debunker

THERE ARE NO JEWELS IN WATCHES

People often talk about their fears of the watchmender stealing the "jewels" while he has the watch for repairs. But the truth is that there are actually no jewels worth stealing in a watch. Many jewelers say the crystals used in bearings are not jewels at all, as they are not of sufficient value to be classed as jewels. They are not in the class of "precious stones," as jewels must be. Another popular fallacy is that watches will run for years without cleaning. This is not true, as they should be cleaned about every 18 months at the longest.

Home Science Group To Give Assistance

WAYS and means by which members of the Alberta Home Economics Association might help the dominion government in time of war, occupied the attention of delegates attending the sessions of the convention held in the Macdonald hotel on Saturday.

Mrs. J. White, Westlock, has been appointed by the Canadian group to be the Alberta representative to act as distributing convener for information concerning opportunities for war service among Home Economics women. Mrs. White spoke briefly, asking for volunteers for service.

Miss Mabel Patrick opened the round table discussion on war work. The most valuable contribution groups such as theirs could give, collectively and individually, it was determined, was by disseminating knowledge through their various positions as teachers and demonstrators, on the wisest food buying possible, how to keep the essentials of food necessary for health in wartime diets; distributing information concerning low-cost meals and personal economy; and individual work in national service groups.

Other speakers were Miss Marjorie Lipsey, Mrs. Brewer, Miss Evelyn Hart, Miss Edna Dakin, Miss Anna Gillis and Miss Grace Studholme, Miss Ada Lent, Mrs. J. White, Westlock, and Miss Ada Wright, Vegreville.

Tea was served during the afternoon, when delegates were guests of the Edmonton group, and dinner was arranged in the evening, with Miss Dorothy Elliot as convener. Speakers during this affair were Miss Torgerson, who traced the early beginnings of home science study in the province, and Miss Grace Bard, who reveiewed her recent trip to British Honduras and Guatemala.

Miss Christine McIntyre, the incoming president, presided at the dinner, relieving Miss Hazel McIntyre, who was chairman for the sessions during the day. Miss Isabel Howson played two pianoforte solos following dinner.

Delegates present were Miss C. Smith, Miss L. E. Tupper, Miss E. McCaffary, Miss G. Connors, Miss A. Veenendaal, Miss M. Gossipp, Miss G. Rogers, Calgary; Miss E. Lee, Miss E. Surtzer, Miss C. McIntyre, Olds; Miss J. P. White, Westlock; Miss M. Storey, Miss M. P. Shaw, Vermilion; Miss A. Wright, Mrs. W. Shandro, Miss H. Romanchyck, Vegreville; Miss J. McNally, Turner Valley; Miss E. Grisdale, Olds; Mrs. John Alton, Lamont.

Hart, Miss McConnell, Miss M. McLaggan, Miss A. Gillis, Miss D. Elliott, Miss E. A. Hatie, Miss G. Duggan, Miss G. Bard.

Snow Shovels Busy Thursday Clearing Walks

The ring of snow shovels and the swishing of brooms were heard again Thursday morning as householders and shopkeepers busily removed slushy deposits of mixed rain and snow from their doorsteps and walks. Precipitation during the night totalled .46 inches. Snow in some spots was measured at a depth of two inches.

"No change" was all that was written on the local weather forecast for Thursday.

Highest temperature Wednesday was 40 above, while the overnight low was 26 above.

Mercury slipped below the zero mark at Dawson last night to touch the minus five line. At 9 a.m. on Thursday the temperature at Mayo was four below.

THE MEATLAND OFFERS MODERN TABLE SERVICE

Providing a new, up-to-the-minute meat and grocery supply centre for thrifty and discerning shoppers, "The Meatland" has been opened for business at 10345 98 street. It is under the direction and management of A. Lerner, who has had wide experience in merchandising meat and groceries in western Canada.

Modern refrigeration units insure that meats and other perishables will be kept in first class condition and a full line of nationally-known groceries and household supplies makes it possible for the busy shopper to make all her household purchases at the same time. Low overhead costs have enabled Mr. Lerner to offer his stock at exceptionally attractive prices. Weekly specials on fruits and vegetables and special pricings on tender baby beef will be a regular feature of this new store.

Arrangements have been made, too, for prompt attention to mail orders, and a city delivery for orders of reasonable size is also included in the services offered by this new home supply house. "Our slogan is: 'No matter where you live, it will pay you to shop at The Meatland'," Mr. Lerner says.

THEFT CHARGE DISMISSED IN SUPREME COURT

Charges of stealing a motor car, property of Gerald E. Anderson, Edmonton, and breaking and entering a storehouse against Lloyd Sharp, 22-year-old Edmonton painter, were dismissed in supreme court Wednesday by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives.

Sharp told the court he had been employed as salesman on the used car lot on which the Anderson car was parked and had taken the car to effect a sale. Owner of the used car lot testified that had he known the car was in Sharp's possession he would not have informed the police it was stolen. He said Sharp was not authorized to take the car from the lot.

The court held there was a very casual arrangement between Sharp and operators of the used car lot, and found there was no guilty intent when possession was taken of the car.

Province May Revise System Of Food Relief

Consideration of revision of the food issuance system for unemployment relief is being continued by provincial government authorities and it is stated that adoption of the plan would mean abolition of price maximums on orders, due to fluctuating price conditions, officials stated.

Under the present system the orders are issued for specified food quantity and the order also bears the cost of the goods.

It was found that in some cases prices had been advanced prior to the order being delivered at the store and as a result, the recipient obtained less than the order called for.

Abolition of the [illegible] is to insure the supply of a certain quantity of goods.

The proposal has been discussed with Calgary authorities and also representatives of the unemployed. Merchants are said to have expressed approval.

So far, no conversations on the subject have taken place with Edmonton authorities.

Combines Probe Report Is Upheld By Court Ruling

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—A report of F. A. McGregor, commissioner of the Combines Investigation Act, finding the Imperial Tobacco Company was in unlawful combine with other companies in the distribution of tobacco products in Alberta and elsewhere, was upheld today by the Ontario appellate court.

Counsel for the appellants contended they had not received reasonable notice of the investigation, and that they were not granted an opportunity to present evidence. They contended further that the present commissioner was acting as a judicial officer and therefore was subject to an order for the production of all exhibits and evidence in his possession.

NAZI STEAMER CHANGES NAME TWICE ON TRIP

EVERETT, Wash., Oct. 12.—Two alterations in its name and insignia, coupled with the timely sighting of a dense fog bank as a British warship hove into view, apparently saved the German motorship Portland from capture during its flight down the Pacific coast.

An account of the vessel's secret voyage to Coquimbo, Chile, was received Wednesday in a letter from a crew member to a friend, Le Roy Schofield.

The ship discharged passengers here, then left hurriedly during the night of August 30, presumably for Portland, Ore.

Once out of the harbor, the German seaman wrote, the crew painted out the ship's name and insignia, substituting that of a French ship. Three days later, after a message indicated the guise had been discovered, another change was made to a Japanese ship.

Nearing Coquimbo, a British warship was sighted, but a dense fog came up and the ship steered into it. When it cleared, the Portland was safe in neutral waters.

Dispatches from Coquimbo said the vessel arrived flying a Japanese flag.

PREMIER KING MAY DISCUSS CANADA PLANS

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King is expected soon to make one or more radio addresses dealing with Canada's war effort. This would be in addition to the series of weekly addresses over the air planned by the defence department.

The prime minister has been urged that as Prime Minister Chamberlain gives an account weekly of the progress of Britain's war activities to the House of Commons, Mr. Mackenzie King, since the Canadian parliament is not in session, should tell the Canadian people in frequent public addresses what this country is accomplishing.

Reports that the prime minister plans broadcast speeches has led to conjecture in some quarters that they would have to do with the Quebec provincial elections. It is learned on good authority, however, that the prime minister has no intention of changing his long-standing policy of refraining from any participation in provincial political contests.

HARVESTING IS AGAIN DELAYED BY RAIN, SNOW

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

PEACE RIVER, Oct. 12.—With a howling wind out of the north, rain which later turned to snow once more puts all hope of threshing into further uncertainty although some machines were about to commence once again even though the grain was tough. The storm broke loose at noon Wednesday and the temperature has dropped below the freezing point. Last week's cold froze up all small lakes to a depth of nearly an inch, but Monday's hot sun and heavy wind broke up the larger lakes where ducks and geese have accumulated in enormous flocks.

The school teachers' convention held the past two days was largely attended, the sessions being held in Athabasca hall. Roads are again in bad condition and many teachers from long distance points will have difficulty in getting to their stations in time to open school Thursday.

Pilot Frank Burton of the Peace River Airways returned to his base early Wednesday afternoon with a load of passengers from Yellowknife, including C. L. Berry of radio station CFGP. Burton left Hay River Wednesday morning where [illegible] remained Tuesday night, and [illegible] his plane down here after [illegible] travelled the last 70 miles [illegible] snow storm that [illegible] visibility to only a short distance.

Footprinting Of Troops Proposed

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—The defence department is considering a proposal for the footprinting of all troops [illegible] requirements may [illegible] and foot faults detected. The Dominion council of health was [illegible] considered the [illegible] Canada's war effort.

The question rose when Mrs. Helen D. Smith, Vancouver, asked if defence authorities would consider [illegible] made for [illegible] footwear. She had heard numerous complaints about ill-fitting [illegible].

CHEESE PRICE AT PRODUCTION LEVEL SOUGHT

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—Action "to establish a price for cheese that will be equivalent to cost of production," was asked Wednesday of the Dominion agriculture department by a deputation from the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

J. F. Bertrand, Hammond, vice-president of the association, and H. S. Marjerison, Apple Hill, saw Dr. G. S. H. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture, and afterwards issued a statement that said:

"The reply did not indicate that the government at the present time was favorably considering such a proposal."

The cheese men claim the Dominion department of agriculture has established the cost of producing a ton of milk at around $28, which would make the cost of cheese 17½ to 18 cents a pound. Cheese is selling on the boards at just under 14 cents.

The cheese men contend that butter wholesale should be no more than twice the price of cheese.

LEGISLATION IS AIMED AT PROFITEERING

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 12—The government introduced legislation in the House of Commons today to stamp out war profiteering in food and every-day commodities.

The main object of the legislation is to ensure that the price of goods which enter the cost of living is not raised more than is justified by the increase in various costs due to the war. It does not apply to exports.

The board of trade will be empowered to set prices beyond which no person may sell goods. In general the set prices will be computed on the prices paid Aug. 1, 1939, plus normal increases due to the war.

Enforcement of the act will be placed in the hands of a central price regulation committee. Any person guilty of selling price-regulated goods at more than the permitted price will be liable on summary conviction to three months in jail or a fine not exceeding £100 or both.

Persistent violators could be sent to jail for two years, fined £500, or prevented from carrying on business.

AUSSIES IRKED BY "MUMBLING MINNIE" MUFF

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 12.—"The ghost of Britain's 'Mumbling Minnie' (ministry of information) has reached out to befuddle the people of Australia," the Telegraph commented today on the ban on Prime Minister Menzies' statement on the empire air training scheme at request of the dominions' office and its subsequent release hours after its outline in the house of commons in London.

The Herald said: "It would be hard to find a more deplorable example of official bungling and discourtesy.

"When the announcement, in almost identical words, was received from London from the mouth of the British air minister, the bounds of just and proper resentment were vastly extended.

"It appears the British minister, before speaking, did not exercise elementary courtesy in notifying the Australian government that the postponed, identical statement might again be released overseas.

"The Australian public has been unfairly treated in gagging not merely the press but also the head of the government on a vital announcement of war policy."

Privy Council Allows Appeal Of Revenue Minister

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The judicial committee of the privy council today allowed the appeal of the minister of national revenue of Canada from a judgment of the supreme court of Canada in an action involving the Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, over a disputed assessment of income tax on investments which were being accumulated for the benefit of a trust fund.

Their lordships said the supreme court judgment should be discharged and a previous judgment of the exchequer court restored. It was ruled the respondent must pay the cost of the appeal and of the supreme court appeal.

Churchill Erred In Announcement Of Nazi Capture

LONDON, Oct. 12. — Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, acknowledged today that he had erred in announcing capture of a German submarine commander who sent him a personal SOS on behalf of the torpedoed British ship Firby Sept. 11.

"I was informed by competent authorities," Mr. Churchill said, "that the facts were as stated by me (in the House of Commons Sept. 26), and that the officer who sank the Firby had been made prisoner. Subsequent examination of the U-boat prisoners of war in our custody at the present time has not, however, confirmed this first assumption."

AUTO WORKERS OUT ON STRIKE ON WEDNESDAY

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—More than 50,000 auto factory workers were idle last night because of the Chrysler Corporation production dispute and complete paralysis of operations in all plants was threatened.

With the likelihood the tieup will affect 60,000 workers by today, the United Auto Workers (Congress of Industrial Organizations) announced its intention to call a general Chrysler strike. Five-day notice with the state labor mediation board is required.

Plants which had virtually suspended operations last night were Chrysler-Kercheval, Chrysler-Jefferson, Dodge, Plymouth, De Soto, and Dodge truck, all in or near Detroit.

The tieup so far has centred around the corporation's Dodge plant, a key unit in which the management charges the union instigated a slow-down and the union claims the assembly line was speeded up.

ARMY HEALTH IS DISCUSSED BY OFFICIALS

Many Suggestions Made to Dominion Council At Meeting

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 — Health problems in the army were considered Wednesday by the Dominion council of health here.

Among suggestions made to council, said an official press release, were:

Soldiers under 21 should not be subjected to front-line-service conditions of the sort experienced in the last war.

Soldiers suffering from any disease detected within 90 days of their enlistment should be a charge on civil, rather than military, authorities.

All recruits for the active service corps should be subjected to X-ray examination, as well as routine physical check-up.

Army rations in the last war, while adequate in calories, were probably lacking in essential food factors to maintain the health of the troops, particularly those subject to such diseases as tuberculosis.

Dr. G. J. Wherrett, secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, and Dr. F. S. Burke, chief of the medical investigation division, department of pensions and national health, discussed the incidence of tuberculosis among armies in the last war.

It was stated X-ray examination alone was adequate to weed out those who might be developing tuberculosis.

It was agreed Canada would be saved enormous sums in training, hospitalization and pensions if those who early showed signs of the disease were discharged immediately their disabilities were established.

BROWNVILLE IS NEW NAME OF HUTMENT CITY

Garrison Commandant Is Honored By Troops In Barracks

Honoring Garrison Commandant Lieut.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., soldiers of the Edmonton Garrison have nicknamed the hut city in which they are living and located north of the Prince of Wales Armory, "Brownville."

"Brownville" is now one of the best known "sub-divisions" of this city. More than 1,600 soldiers of the King are housed therein. It is a completely modern town is this "Brownville." It is up-to-date in every respect.

It has gravelled highways. It has a stout barbed wire fence around it to keep our interlopers. It has more than 20 huts, each one of the 16 used for sleeping accommodation housing 100 men. It has shower baths, hot and cold running water, electric light. It has three modern dining rooms—mess huts to the boys—in each of which 500 hungry soldiers can be accommodated. It has recreational facilities.

PARKING ORDERS

And on Wednesday "Brownville" got its own automobile parking regulations. Col. Brown incorporated in Garrison orders places in Garrison property where cars can and cannot park.

Soldiers down-town are heard to remark that they must return—not to hutments or to barracks but to Brownville.

Wednesday was a quiet day for the boys.

"Then the rains came" and it was dreary on the places adjacent to Brownville where the troops are wont to carry out their daily routine of "physical jerks," squad drill, route marching and other phases of training.

MOVED INSIDE

So schedules were adjusted so that lectures took place in all available rooms in the Prince of Wales armory. Thus, there were talks on the principles of war, health, field emplacements and other features of war.

Work is proceeding in renovating the Fane building, which will be put in shape to house about 300 men, if it should be required during the winter.

Should Thursday prove unfavorable for outdoor training Garrison units probably will carry on with lectures and indoor work.

ARTHUR MEIGHEN ON PRIVATE TRIP HERE THURSDAY

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, P.C., K.C., former prime minister of Canada and at present leader of the Conservative party in the senate, was in Edmonton Thursday on a private business trip.

Here on his annual business visit, Mr. Meighen was with J. S. McLean, Toronto, president of Canada Packers' Ltd., an old college chum with whom he makes the western trip each year.

Mr. Meighen, upon being asked to make some comment upon the war in view of his close connection with the world war of 1914-18, declined to do so, stating it was too early in the contest for the expression of personal views to be wise.

Looking vigorous after the duties of the special war session, in which he made a memorable speech in the Senate stating Canada's war duties, Mr. Meighen is on his way to the Pacific coast, and is at the Macdonald.

By a vote of 27 in favor to 24 against, wet forces at Penhold village won a local option plebiscite recently, according to official returns received by R. A. Andison, chief electoral officer for the province.

Safe in the arms of Morpheus and all unaware that The Bulletin's cameraman was on the alert this week for a feature "shot," this little boy has forgotten all his tiny troubles and is fast asleep on a downtown corner. Sleep on while you may, little man. All too soon they'll call you.

BUSINESS IS ASKED TO AID JOBLESS FOLK

Employers Urged To Contact Bureau When Help Required

Declaring that it had been brought to his attention that certain employers of labor in Alberta were claiming that they were unable to obtain labor to operate their businesses, Mark W. Robertson, general superintendent of the Employment Service of Canada for this province, on Thursday said this problem could be solved if employers would communicate with the service office closest to their places of business.

Employment offices, he said, are located in this city, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Drumheller.

Should it be inconvenient for the employer to call personally, he can communicate by letter, telephone or telegraph and the staff will select a suitable employee, according to qualifications laid down by the employer.

From March 31, 1938, to March 31, 1939, there were 20,027 men placed in employment. Some of the largest employers of labor in the province leave the selection of labor, for their various branches of industry, to the Employment Serice. There were 4,787 women placed in employment.

"There is an abundance of unemployed men, trained in practically every occupation, registered at our offices, and an overwhelming majority of these are obtaining unemployment relief in various forms, said Mr. Robertson.

"I would therefore ask for the co-operation of the employers of labor throughout the province. Our services are specialized for your needs and by co-operating you will be relieving the load of unemployment relief from the municipalities and thereby easing the burden of taxation to which unemployment relief subjects you."

Through The Mill

Thursday's session of police court was much like a Royal Commission in that there was an awful lot of talking, a great number of people gave evidence, but nothing came of it—for the time being at any event. Although several cases came before the court, there were no dispositions. But then, as Tizz-Too said "The wise man will keep his seat on until the wind stops blowing." And in much the same manner Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., decided that a day's thought in the quiet of his own study would enable him to render better decisions. And no wonder. By the time the witnesses, the police, the prosecutor and the defense attorneys got through contradicting each other, cross-examining and looking at the cases from both sides, even Solomon himself would have hollered, "Let me outa here."

So let it suffice for today that we tell you that one man pleaded guilty to the crime of wandering about in the rain at night because he has no home, no job, no money and no place to sleep; a youth pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing nitro-glycerine for an illegal purpose and burglar tools for a similar reason; that a man and a woman charged with slugging a companion over the noggin with a bottle towards the end of a rather dampish party put up a good story and the man who was slugged "don't remember nothin'"; and that one kid pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a stolen bike and another pleaded not guilty. And so, kind readers, that is all for now but if you come back tomorrow we'll try to have the answers for you.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

As Others See

Full Credit

Reddish Faces

YESTERDAY'S mail brought in the first papers carrying the re-action of other conference centres to Edmonton's win over the Roughriders and Bombers. Eddie Armstrong of the Winnipeg Free Press was not only dumbfounded—he was considerably embarrassed, for he had recently declared in his column that the Eskimos couldn't win another game this season.

Here is part of what Eddie had to say after getting the news of his Bombers' defeat:

> "That chap you see on Portage avenue with the dark-colored glasses is probably the gink who writes this column . . . one day last week, with our eyes wide open, we managed to get into this column the assertion that, in our humble opinion, we didn't see how Edmonton could win another game this season, because they lacked power. Since that bold assertion got into print, Esks have obligingly won two games—beating a much-improved Regina club 5-0, and the Blue Bombers, mind you, 30-11 . . . in their eight previous games this season the Esks scored 41 points all told . . . Monday they manufactured 30 against a club which had rolled up over 100 more than Edmonton in a similar number of games . . . the Bombers only had 36 points scored against them in their eight prior matches . . . Monday they saw an additional 30 tacked onto the "against" total . . . my face was red Saturday when the Esks beat Regina—but you should see it now."

From Joe Ryan comes what may be taken as the official re-action of the Bomber executive. Joe pounds a typewriter in the Free Press sport department when not handling the business affairs of the team. Sez Joe:

> "On leaving Winnipeg, we had a hunch that we were going to drop one of these games, but we will freely confess that Dick Haughian's Red Raider's were the team that might have been expected to turn the trick. After that stirring rally on Friday night, no one can be blamed for figuring that the Bomber record would not be marred by any losses this season. That the Edmontonians so badly wrecked by injuries, would be the club to subdue us hardly seemed possible. However they did, and it wasn't any fluke. Like our own lads, at Calgary, they came from behind to do it. They played inspired football.

"On reviewing the matter on the basis of the games played to date, it can be truthfully said that the possibility actually was there. In the Edmonton game at Winnipeg, the Fritz troops came closer to stopping our [illegible] this season. Monday, they really stopped it, and the feat is the more remarkable in view of the fact that the man who was the biggest thorn in our side at that time, namely Bill Matheny, was not even in uniform. Furthermore, Russ Wile, the outstanding Eskimo lineman at Winnipeg, only got in the game for a few minutes."

As Ottawa's Great Grid Machine Got Under Way

Baseball Trade Winds Follow Diamond Classic

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The trade winds that are bound to follow the world series drifted across the baseball world Wednesday and, all the way from New York Yankees down to Philadelphia Phillies, every club was shopping, ready to trade or sell, buy or barter.

First basemen, particularly, were being placed on the counters. Babe Dahlgren of the Yankees, big Hank Greenberg of Detroit Tigers and Zeke Bonura of New York Giants received prominent mention.

ARMY SOCCER BOYS TO PLAY CIVIC ELEVEN

Lads in Khaki Expect to Raise Strong Team Saturday

A gathering of the boys in khaki can always produce a fairly fast soccer eleven and in order to raise funds for sports equipment for the soldiers here an exhibition game will be played between an army eleven and the Civics at Clarke Stadium on Saturday. The game will start at 2:30 p.m.

Young men from all over the province have joined the Edmonton garrison and the soccer enthusiasts in army circles give assurance they will field a strong squad to meet the champion Civics.

Civics will field the same team which won the provincial championship and narrowly missed winning inter-provincial honors. The Civics may be lacking some in conditioning as they have not touched a ball since their finals. However, it is only a few weeks since their campaigning ended and they are out to give the patrons a good game.

Several old favorites such as Harry Bannon and others have enlisted and will be in Army uniforms while many young football players from district points will also be in uniform for the game.

SASKATCHEWAN HUSKIES BEAT BEARS

Fumble Loses Game For Albertans 13-11

SASKATOON, Oct. 12.—University of Saskatchewan Huskies defeated University of Alberta Golden Bears 13-11 here Wednesday, their second straight victory in a four-game series to decide a finalist against University of British Columbia for the western intercollegiate football title.

Huskies won the first game here Monday 9-5. Third and fourth games will be played at Edmonton, October 21 and 23. The winner will meet U.B.C. Thunderbirds in a total-points series at Vancouver October 25 and 28. Thunderbirds won the title and the Hardy trophy last year.

Saskatchewan went into the lead late in the first quarter when Earle Bowman crossed the Alberta goal line on a quarterback sneak and Dan Capraru converted from placement.

BEARS ON MARCH

The Albertans had the Huskies definitely on the run in the second quarter. After making five consecutive first downs on plunges by Dave MacKay, Don Johnson and Baty Casseault, Bears lost possession briefly but on regaining the ball Jerry Collins fired a forward pass to Dave MacKay to place the ball on the Saskatchewan one-yard line. On the second down, Casseault crossed the goal line for a touchdown. Wilson's attempted convert from placement was blocked.

Huskies added another point on a kick to the deadline by Capraru before the break came that practically gave Saskatchewan the victory. Jerry Collins fumbled the ball behind his own goal line on Capraru's long punt and Ken Stafford fell on it for a touchdown, which was converted with a forward pass from Capraru to Bowman.

LONG FORWARD

Gaining possession when a Saskatchewan kick was blocked in Saskatchewan territory, Bears completed a 30 yard forward pass from MacKay to Johnny Dixon which gave the Albertans their second touchdown. They converted with a pass from Lloyd Wilson to MacKay.

Saskatchewan made 12 first downs to Alberta's 10. The Huskies completed four forwards out of 10 attempts and had one intercepted. Alberta completed three passes, all of which produced points out of eight attempts and also had one intercepted. In kicking, Capraru had an edge over Wilson and Casseault.

LINEUPS

Adanacs Take Third Straight Triumph

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Oct. 12.—New Westminster Adanacs, a strictly "home-brew" team, defeated St. Catharines Athletics 15-11 here last night to capture the Mann cup and the dominion lacrosse championship in a straight reversal of the 1938 series.

Bringing back to British Columbia the "world series" boxla title their intra-city rival, Salmonbellies, won in 1937 and which the Adanacs failed to retain last year against the St. Catharines club, Adanacs fought up from a 1-5 deficit in the first quarter to win with a last quarter attack that had the easterners completely baffled.

Still down, 4-5, at the end of half time the Adanacs battled on to even terms with the heavier Athletics by the end of the third period, and in the final 15 minutes literally ran St. Catharines into their own goal crease as they popped in five straight goals in the first four minutes without a reply.

CLOSE BATTLE

Adanacs victory drive was the climax to the best of five series, one of the closest ever seen at the coast, and in which Adanacs took the lead when they nosed 12-10 and 9-8 triumphs in the first games.

It was sweet revenge for Adanacs to take the series in three straight, the same score they lost to St. Catharines at Toronto in the final last year.

If there were any individual stars in the game they were Bill Whittaker and Ed Johnson in the Athletics and Adanacs goals respectively.

WHITTAKER STARS

Whittaker, particular, was brilliant, handling a total of 52 shots and stopped 37 of the whipping drives Adanacs poured at him. An indication of what the overworked goalie performed was seen in the third quarter when Whittaker handled 14 shots to Johnson's five and let only three past him.

Gordon Saunders topped the night scorers with three goals for Adanacs with Jimmy Douglas, George Steele, and Garnie Carter collecting two apiece. Punk Kennedy, Dutch Haddon, Rann Matthison, Bob Phelan, Ken Matheson and Ted Bradbury scored the others.

St. Catharines scoring was distributed evenly with Frank Madsen, Roy Barnard, Morton, Gus Madsen, Billy Fitzgerald collecting a pair each. George Urquhart sniped the other goal.

TRANSFERS FOR AMERKS YOUNG ACES IN ORDER

Prof. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said there would be no difficulty in seven players at the New York Americans' school obtaining transfers to a United States team providing they comply with provisions with present agreements.

Dr. Hardy explained that under agreements between the C.A.H.A., National Hockey League and the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States players of junior age cannot migrate to United States teams. The general policy is that no juniors are to be taken, he added.

Regarding players over the junior age, he continued, they will have to join the A. H. A. U.S. and apply through that body for a transfer. Dr. Hardy said that not more than one player can be obtained from one Canadian team.

Dizzy Can Stay But Gets Big Cut

Wrigley also was definite on another point—his dissatisfaction with the 1939 club—"save for occasional spells, they didn't look like a real team."

TRAIL GOALIE SIGNS CONTRACT WITH BOSTON

VANCOUVER, Oct. 12.—Trail Smoke Eaters' smart goaltender Duke Scodallero had signed up for a tryout with the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League this season, Guy Patrick, owner of the Vancouver Lions said Wednesday.

Patrick revealed that he attempted to pick up Scodallero for his Pacific Coast Hockey League team but was a little too late. The goalie of the Kootenay team which won the world's amateur title in an European tournament last winter had already signed with Boston.

Proposed expansion of the coast loop to include several southern California teams in addition to the regular clubs, Spokane, Seattle, Portland and Vancouver was given by Patrick as one of his reasons for wanting Scodallero.

Guy said that because of the expansion his veteran Lion goal, Percy Jackson, might go to Portland to replace Andy Aitkenhead. Scodallero, he thought, would have filled Jackson's place.

RAYNER STARS AS AMERICANS DEFEAT 'CATS

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 12.—Port Arthur Bear Cats fired a total of 41 shots at Goalie Charlie Rayner last night but the Allan Cup hockey champions found the young Kenora, Ont., boy almost invincible and amateurs attending the New York American's training camp beat Bear Cats 6-3 in an exhibition game.

The National senior champions trailed for two periods but took a 3-2 lead early in the third on two quick goals by defenceman Hugh O'Leary. From there on the better condition of the Americans gave them a wide edge.

Stan King netted Ports' first goal in the second period. Americans goal-getters were Bill McGregor, Bob Clements, Red Hunter, Pete Slobodzian and Sid Brown, with two. Americans' amateur school closed with the game.

Britain Sending Parole - Breaker Back To Iceland

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The air ministry announced last night a Royal Air Force pilot accused of breaking his parole to Iceland authorities after a forced landing there Sept. 26, would return "As soon as possible."

The announcement said the pilot of the flying boat on leaving [illegible]farhoefn was under the impression he had not promised to stay.

"The Icelandic authorities had formed a different impression and when the [illegible] were explained to the pilot he at once decided to volunteer to return immediately to Iceland," it added. "The view of the pilot is that in the matter of parole there should be no element of doubt. With this view the air ministry concur and the pilot accordingly will return to Iceland as soon as possible."

JACK ADAMS HAS LARGEST PUCK SCHOOL

Red Wing Boss Expects Young and Stronger Detroit Club

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—Looking over the biggest training camp sponsored by any National Hockey League club, Jack Adams thought Wednesday that from the array of veterans and about 50 amateurs he might be able to pick a winning combination for Detroit Red Wings.

"I've got more players than I know what to do with," the Detroit manager said. "I'm trying to get some. We have the makings of a good club, maybe a great club."

DILLON NEWCOMER

In place of Charlie Conacher, on whom the Red Wings didn't exercise their option this year, Adams has another experienced player in Cecil Dillon, bought from New York Rangers. Always one of league's leading scorers, Dillon is expected to add [illegible] as well as punch to a club that is bound to have some green material in the ranks.

Besides Conacher, who will line up with New York Americans, Detroit has lost the playing services of Herbie Lewis, another wingman. Lewis has been named manager of the Red Wing farm at Indianapolis.

Tiny Thompson, [illegible] from Boston last season, is sure to start in goal although four others are seeking his position. Jimmy Franks, the Melville, Sask., boy last year with Pittsburgh in the International-American League is a leading contender.

SURE VETERANS

Doug Young, Ebbie Goodfellow and Scotty Bowman, who have been to the wars with Adams for years, are leading candidates for positions on the defence. Buck Jones, who finished last season with the club, is another favored to win a regular defence berth against the bids of such capable youngsters as Bert Janke, from Winnipeg and Montreal.

Alex Motter of Melville, Sask., and Eddie Wares of Calgary, seem to be just about the only veteran forwards who can be sure of their positions against the attempts of a swarm of youngsters to crash the lineup.

HOUSE LEAGUE QUINTETS OPEN "Y" BASKETBALL

Sparks and Hashers scored well earned triumphs in the junior division while Y-Amis and Apaches took the decisions in the men's league as the Y.M.C.A. house league opened competition at the McDougall school last night.

Four junior and four men's teams form the league and all saw action in the opening encounters last night.

The Sparks defeated the Dynamiters by a close 19-15 score while the Hashers were 10 points out in front of the Dodgers by a 32-22 count.

Y-Amis doubled the score on the Meteors as they won their game by a 38-16 count but the Apaches had a hard time [illegible] the [illegible] Nighthawks by a 39-37 score.

Yankees Celebrate Just As Potently as They Hit

By HENRY McLEMORE

United Press, Special to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Oct 12.—Final notes, sweet and blue, on the world series: If you are one of those persons who can't sleep on a train, I suggest that you always plan to make the trip with the Yankees when they are returning from a four-game sweep of the world series . . . You'll have plenty of company all during your wakeful hours . . . The only people who suffered on the Yankee train coming from Cincinnati were those unfortunates who CAN sleep on trains and wanted to . . . They didn't have any more chance than the Reds did . . The return trip was not without its educational advantages however . . . It was interesting to see a train taken apart as methodically as that one was . . . whatever the Yanks do they do thoroughly, even to celebrating.

The Yankees were high—high in their praises of Paul Derringer, not only as a pitcher but as a sportsman . . he alone of all the Reds came in the Yanks dressing room after the last game and congratulated and shook hands with each player.

The umpiring was the best the series has seen in many years, with the Messrs. Reardon, McG[illegible], Summers and Pinelli doing such a good job that the players didn't get a chance to use half of their fine vocabularies on them . . .

KEEP 'EM INTACT

It seems to me that the best argument to use against someone who suggests that the Yankees be broken up is that with thousands of teams playing the national game there should be at least one which plays the game as it should be played . . . The Yankees are that team . . . their hitting, fielding, running and strategy are all perfect and they should be kept intact if only to serve as a model.

Come to think of it, how would you go about breaking up the Yankees? . . . They apparently always have crop of stars ready with which to make replacement . . . The loss of Ruth, Lazzeri and Gehrig didn't slow them down . . . and now you hear, and from experts and unbiased judges, that they have a second baseman named Priddy who is as good as Gordon; a shortstop in Rizzuto who can do all the things that Crosetti can and a little more; and that in a [illegible] they have a first baseman who fields as well as Dahlgren and who can knock the fences down at the plate. . . .

It's peculiar, this resentment of the Yankees class . . . The same fans don't object to Joe Louis' invincibility, and they don't mind Bobby Jones running roughshod over the golf field . . . but they seem to get upset by the Yankees, [illegible] of baseball.

UNSUNG HERO

No. 1 unsung hero of the series was Art Fletcher, Yankee third base coach . . . Art did a magnificent job of handling the base-runners and extracted the last bit of advantage from Cincinnati mistakes mental and physical . . . [illegible] Clark Griffith, Washington owner, turned off his radio after hearing a description of [illegible] . . . Griffith scouted Keller when the killer-diller was a star at the University of Maryland, but didn't like his style.

[illegible] class while doing it, were Derringer, Werber and McCormick. . . . The only really uncomfortable time the Yanks had during the series was when Joe Dimaggio made a circus try on Hershberger's pinch hit to centre and took a nasty fall . . . The [illegible] could have broken his neck on that one . . . Joe Gordon, a crack acrobat, thinks acrobatics should be part of the prescribed training for young ballplayers . . . He says there is nothing like it for giving a man speed, agility, and balance . . . If Joe is the result of such training, then I'd say he is right.
